Law Lectures

Write to inform you - if it be of any interest to you - that I have undertaken to lecture on "Criminal Law"
a subject included in Milly's course of lectures.

I was appointed to succeed Ingram & to continue his course of lectures: & when I applied & was permitted to take up Allen's case, I was not aware that I wd. by the change, have to deliver 70 instead of 94
lectures in the year. To equalise matters, Milly & I have made the above arrangement.

I have spoken on the subject
W. Mackay - he told me it was a subject point in which he wd. use it before but we have to rely & hope to make such arrangements as we might think fit.

Very truly yrs

My dear Tauney.

Can you let me have a room at the Presidency College on the 25th & 26th inst. for the Pleaderships & Mockbarristers Examination as on the 2 previous years.

228 candidates have applied to be examined, but a lot of these will not turn up. If I remember right, the room, which I had last year, <sup>then</sup> ~~the~~ contains about 200. Last year the room <sup>the</sup> was not quite filled, but there are more

Candidates this year.

5A

kindly let me know if you can give me a room so that I can advertise
the fact in the Gazette.

The Bill for moving the tables & chairs into the Examination room, I will, as usual, lay ~~on~~ the last day of the Examination.

No. 4335, dated Simla, the 7th November 1877.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Financial Department.

READ—

Letter from the Government of Madras, No. 308R, dated 14th August 1877, and enclosures, received in the Public Works Department, requesting confirmation of the sanction accorded by that Government to the distribution, among certain clerks in the office of the Consulting Engineer for Railways in Madras, of the salary of a clerk in that office who has obtained one year's leave of absence without pay.

RESOLUTION.—The proceedings of the Government of Madras are confirmed; but the attention of the Government of Madras is invited to the Resolution of the Government of India, No. 5806, dated 11th October 1858. The Government of Madras will doubtless agree with the Government of India in thinking that, as a rule, it is better to maintain the strength of an office by employing a substitute in the place of an absentee.

* Papers returned (copy kept.)

ORDERED, that this Resolution be communicated to the Public* Works Department.

Ordered also, that this Resolution be distributed for information and guidance as follows:—

To the several other Departments of the Government of India;
To the several Local Governments and Administrations;
To the Comptroller-General; and to the several Accountants-General and Deputy Accountants-General in independent charge;
To the several Chiefs of Departments administered by the Government of India in the Financial Department.

CIRCULAR No. 62.

FROM A. W. CROFT, Esq., M.A.,

Officiating Director of Public Instruction,

TO ALL HEAD-MASTERS OF ZILLAH SCHOOLS.

Fort William, the 4th December 1877.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to inform you that the attention of the Lieutenant-Governor has been drawn to the defective pronunciation of English that prevails in zillah schools, even in their highest classes. Syllables, instead of being separately articulated, are run together, and the vowel sounds are not sufficiently distinguished. Such common blunders as the confusion of "ship" and "sheep," the pronunciation of "face" as "fess," of "school" as "ishkool," and many others equally prevalent, are often committed only because they have not been pointed out. The pronunciation of the higher masters in zillah schools is, as a rule, excellent; but unless some attention is paid by them to the reading of English in the lower classes, habits of mispronunciation are contracted, which it is afterwards difficult to destroy. I request therefore that you will be so good as to give your best attention to this matter; and, while taking care that your more important work, namely, the instruction of the highest classes, in no way suffers, to move about from time to time among the lower classes, to hear them read, and carefully to note the common faults, and correct them. You might occasionally entrust other masters, whose pronunciation of English is good, with the same duties.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

A. W. CROFT,

I have the honor to inform you that the attention of the International Convention has been directed to the pronunciation of English that prevails in this country. It is a subject of great importance of being recognized and settled in a uniform manner. The Convention not only has a direct bearing on the education of the people of this country, but it also has a bearing on the pronunciation of English in all parts of the world. The Convention has decided that the pronunciation of English should be uniform in all parts of the world. This decision is of great importance to the people of this country, and it is the duty of every citizen to support it.

Dated 7th. December 1877.

The following Rules are prescribed for the preparation of estimates for new works, additions or alterations to existing Provincial works and roads, which are likely to cost more than Rs. 200 each:—

I. When a Civil Officer wishes to bring forward, or, if within his competence, to sanction any proposal for a new building in connexion with his office or department, he will furnish the following information to the Executive Engineer in whose Division the building is to be erected:—

- (a.) The purposes for which the building is required.
- (b.) The description of building desired, whether permanent, semi-permanent, or temporary.
- (c.) The number of rooms required.
- (d.) The purpose to which each room is to be put.
- (e.) The number of people that each room will be required to accommodate permanently; and any temporary addition to the number of occupants that might be made at any time.
- (f.) The disposition of the rooms, and of doors, windows, clere-stories and sky-lights, if any particular arrangement of these is desired.
- (g.) The minimum floor area of each room.
- (h.) In the case of jails, hospitals, or buildings where sanitary measures and precautions have to be considered, the minimum cubic area, the minimum superficial area, and the minimum area of ventilation required for each room.
- (i.) Whether the building should consist of a ground floor only, or, if more than one floor, the number of floors required.

- (j.) Whether out-offices are required to the main building; if so, their nature and requirements; and when special arrangements are necessary in these out-offices, the arrangements should be fully detailed.
- (k.) Whether the building is to be provided with fittings or fixtures; if so, the fixtures and fittings required.
- (l.) Any other details, such as fire-places in certain rooms, boundary walls, roads in compound, wells, &c., so that the requirements may be fully understood.
- (m.) The site proposed for the buildings or works, whether the same belongs to Government or not, and if not, the probable cost of acquiring the land on a rough estimate.

II. It will facilitate the despatch of business if applications for works are brought forward by the Officers concerned in the form annexed (Statement A.) These forms will be furnished by Executive Engineers on application. If the Civil Officer likes to illustrate his wishes by sketches, they should be appended to the forms. Such sketches would also facilitate the despatch of business.

III. If the work is likely to cost less than Rs. 200, the ordinary requisition form can be used; but in this case also care should be taken that the requisition shows exactly what is required.

* * * *

V. On obtaining the necessary information, the Executive Engineer will determine in round numbers what the cost of the proposal is likely to be, (or if these are alternative proposals what the cost of each is likely to be); and will communicate these lump-sums to the Officer who has made the proposal. He will also return the sketch plans forwarded by the Civil Officer, if that Officer wishes to have them back for the purpose of annexing them to the application which he has to make in accordance with Rule VIII. If the work is one within the power of local sanction, the Executive Engineer will prepare a detailed plan and estimate if required to do so by the Officer who will eventually sanction the estimate, but if it is beyond the power of sanction, the Executive Engineer will not furnish any detailed drawings or estimate; or do more than intimate what the total cost of the proposal, or alternative proposals, is likely to be, this information being sufficient to enable the Officer to bring forward his proposal in his own Department.

25

* * * *

VIII. On receiving intimation of the probable cost from the Executive Engineer of the Division, the Civil Officer requiring the building or work will bring forward * Vide Resolution by the Government of Bengal. General Department, dated the 28th February 1872.

his proposal in the manner prescribed* in Circular No. 22 dated the 22nd April 1872 of the Public Works Department.

* * * *

XII. These plans and sections, and a "report,"† together with a very brief specification of the work to be done, e. g., walls pucca (or as may be) masonry, main roof pucca verandah roof tiled, and so on, should be forwarded to the Civil Officer concerned for countersignature and any remark he may wish to make.

XIII. The Civil Officer will return these documents to the Executive Engineer, who will submit them to the Superintending Engineer, together with the information he has received under Rule I.; and if any alteration of the standard specification of the Division is necessary, it should then be mentioned, or a special specification for whole or part of the work (as may be necessary) should be given.

* * * *

XIX. Proposals for new roads will be treated on the same principles as those for buildings. A preliminary application based upon such information as may be readily available should be made in the first instance showing the benefits to be derived from the proposed road, its length and width at crest, whether or not to be metalled, and to what width, &c. The preliminary application should also state as nearly as can be done without preparing regular estimate—

- (a.) The total cost of the earthwork.
- (b.) Ditto bridging, exclusive of any large bridges which will be specified, and their cost given.
- (c.) The cost of metalling, if metalling is proposed.

XX. These preliminary applications may be initiated by Civil Officers and submitted by the Commissioner direct to Government, or, which would be preferable in some respects, they may be forwarded by the Commissioner through the Superintending Engineer. Or the applications may be initiated by Superintending or Executive Engineer, and submitted in usual course to Chief Engineer. In this case, the views of the Commissioner of the Division, and of the Collectors of Districts concerned in regard to probable traffic, the usefulness of the proposed road, &c., should form part of the application.

Sir,

I am directed by the Executive Committee of the Panjab University College to enquire whether you will do them the honor of acting as Examiner in English for the High Proficiency and Honors in arts Examinations to be held on the 13th April & 10th June next respectively.

The number of Candidates for both Examinations will probably be about 20 and the amount of honorarium for your trouble Rs. 100/- one hundred only. There will be nine papers of questions in all viz:

Three papers of two hours each in the High Proficiency and Six of five hours each in the Honors in Arts Examination. Local oral Examiners in English will be appointed and they will be allowed to allot 15 per cent of the marks, the Examiner for the written papers disposing of the remaining 85 per cent. Three copies of each of the nine question papers will be required for dictation to candidates at the places where the examinations will take place.

A copy of the University College Calendar in which specimens of question papers appear will be sent hereafter but the Examiner has every liberty to frame the papers as he likes in conformity with the general principles of the University College.

Trusting <sup>that</sup> you will honor the Panjab University College with your support.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

EDUCATION—No. 43.

CALCUTTA, THE 4TH JANUARY 1878.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Report on Public Instruction for the year 1876-77.

THE financial position of the Government of Bengal at the opening of the year 1876-77 compelled the Lieutenant-Governor not only to impress on all heads of departments the urgent need for the exercise of strict economy in the administration of the revenues, but also to make considerable reductions in the budget grants which it was originally proposed to assign under the several heads of provincial expenditure. During each of the years which followed the introduction of the system of provincial finance established in 1871, the local Government had at its disposal accumulated balances which were available to meet any surplus of expenditure over receipts, and charges were consequently admitted on a scale which the current income of the Government would not have justified. These balances, however, were surrendered to the Government of India in partial liquidation of the liabilities incurred by Bengal during the scarcity of 1874, and the Government found it necessary, in settling the provincial budget for 1876-77, to keep the sanctioned expenditure strictly within the amount of the expected income of the year.

2. The Department of Education, in common with the other departments of the provincial administration, suffered under these necessary retrenchments. The grant originally intended to be assigned was Rs. 25,38,333; but this sum was successively reduced, first to Rs. 24,92,236, and eventually to Rs. 24,67,236. The actual expenditure of the year was Rs. 24,61,599, of which Rs. 4,71,814 represent departmental receipts, and the balance, Rs. 19,89,785, is the net Government expenditure. The gross expenditure in 1874-75 was Rs. 25,11,830; the sanctioned grant for 1875-76 was Rs. 26,14,010, and the actual expenditure of that year amounted to Rs. 26,32,444. The figures are not quite accurately given in the opening paragraphs of the Director's present report; but it will appear, from what has been said, that the expenditure of 1876-77 from the Education Budget was about half a lakh below that of 1874-75, and nearly  $1\frac{3}{4}$  lakhs below that of the year 1875-76.

3. The officers of the department exerted themselves loyally and strenuously to carry out the orders of Government, and to prevent the diminution of the grant from injuriously affecting the progress of education. But it was inevitable that so serious a reduction in the available funds should not only arrest development, but should in some cases result in an actual decrease in the number of schools and pupils; and this decrease has occurred in middle schools generally, and in primary schools in the great majority of districts. There was also a considerable decrease in the number of schools for special instruction, but this did not arise from the reduction of the grant, but from the closing of several normal schools of the second and third grades—a measure which was carried out by Government upon grounds independent of financial considerations.

4. Under these circumstances, the Lieutenant-Governor regards it as a satisfactory proof of the general soundness and vitality of our educational system that, notwithstanding these disadvantages and drawbacks, the number of schools and colleges under inspection, and the pupils attending them, showed a marked increase during the year. The figures are given in the following table :—

CLASS OF INSTITUTIONS.	1876.		1877.
	Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.
For general instruction—
Government institutions	259	24,208	267	24,595
Grant-in-aid ditto	1,872	87,379	1,842	88,193
Primary and Circle Fund Institutions	13,270	353,166	13,665	351,648
Unaided institutions	2,358	66,111	5,629	120,517
For special instruction*	91	4,940	75	4,398
Total	17,850	535,804	21,478	689,351

* Schools for special instruction are all Government institutions, except 15 aided normal schools with 852 pupils and one unaided technical school with 255 pupils.

5. An examination of this table shows that the increase in the number of Government schools has not been accompanied by a corresponding increase in the number of pupils; that though grant-in-aid schools have diminished by 30, the number of pupils in them has increased; that schools supported from the primary fund show an increase in numbers, with no increase in pupils; that a large additional number of unaided pathsalas have been brought under inspection; and that, notwithstanding the decrease in the number of schools for special instruction, the pupils attending them have not very greatly diminished. If the unaided institutions, which are of course unaffected by the finances of the department, are excluded from the returns of both years, it will be seen that while in 1875-76 there were 15,492 schools with 469,693 pupils, in 1876-77 the number of schools rose to 15,849, but that of pupils diminished to 468,834.

6. If the schools are classified, not according to the budget grant from which they are supported, but according to the character of the instruction imparted in them, the results of the year are as follow :—

CLASS OF INSTRUCTION.		1876.		1877.		Average number of pupils at each school.
		Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.
SUPERIOR	Colleges	18	1,404	20	1,792	90

SPECIAL	.....	91	4,940	75	4,398	58
Total		15,807	492,090	16,196	492,492	.....

* In the report for the previous year, all schools aided from the primary fund were classed as primary schools. The figures have been corrected in this table.

Unaided primary schools are not shown in this table, the standard of instruction in these not being accurately defined. Intermediate schools appear as a new class in the returns of 1876-77; in the previous year intermediate English schools did not exist, and intermediate vernacular schools were included in the primary class. The falling off in middle schools, and especially in middle English schools, is very noticeable, the number of middle English schools in 1875-76 being the same as that of middle English and intermediate English together in 1876-77. In the middle vernacular schools the loss is not so great, as the majority of the intermediate vernacular schools have not come down from the middle class, but have risen from the primary class. But it is estimated that of the 214 middle vernacular schools which have disappeared from the returns of the year, about 40 or 50 have been entirely closed, and the rest have fallen to a lower class. Primary schools show a decrease of nearly 1,000. This means that, in round numbers, 1,300 of these schools have been raised to the intermediate class, and 1,200 have disappeared from Bengal generally, while no less than 1,500 new schools have been added to the list in the two districts of Midnapore and Balasore.

7. In all this there is no ground for apprehension, and but little cause for regret. Some of the weaker schools, which possessed little vitality independent of the Government grant, have been closed; while a more careful classification has shown that some schools were unable to maintain the standard under which they were previously ranked. But the colleges and higher English schools at one end of the scale, and the primary schools at the other, have in general stood the test of financial reductions in a manner which shows the soundness of the basis upon which they are established. The lesson to be deduced from the experience of the year appears to be that the middle schools are the weakest part of our educational system, and that special efforts should be made to strengthen and improve them.

8. The favourable inference which may be drawn from these returns is confirmed by an examination of the figures which show the proportion of the total educational expenditure contributed by Government and by the people themselves. Including the charges of the Medical College and schools, which are not shown in the Education Budget, the total expenditure on organized education was Rs. 42,34,000, of which Rs. 22,52,000 were paid by Government. In the previous year the Government contribution was Rs. 24,03,000, and the total expenditure Rs. 41,89,000. An increase of nearly half a lakh of rupees in the total expenditure, combined with a decrease of more than a lakh and a half in the payments by Government, shows that during the year the private funds expended upon education increased by about two lakhs of rupees. The Government share of educational expenditure has decreased during the year from 57 to 53 per cent., and this decrease in the rate is found in the schools of every class. The contributions from the public were Rs. 16,68,000 in 1874-75, Rs. 17,86,000 in 1875-76, and Rs. 19,82,000 in 1876-77. These figures appear to the Lieutenant-Governor to afford a convincing proof that the people are willing not merely to accept the instruction imparted in our schools, but to take their share in supporting it; and it is especially satisfactory to find that, in a year in which the Government was compelled to enforce measures of the strictest economy, the schools suffered no pecuniary loss, the deficiency being supplied, and more than supplied, by increased contributions from the public.

9. The primary schools supported or aided by Government showed a decrease during the year of nearly 1,000 schools and 46,000 pupils. But this decrease is owing, as has already been explained, to the elevation of about 1,300 of the best primary schools to the intermediate class. There has therefore been a real increase of about 300 schools; and as it appears that 1,500 pathshalas have been newly brought on the returns in the two districts of Balasore and Midnapore, it follows that about 1,200 schools have disappeared in other districts. Some of these continue to exist as unaided schools, but it is to be feared that the greater number have been closed. The unaided schools brought under inspection have increased from 2,043 schools with 43,714 pupils to 5,282 schools with 96,859 pupils. In the whole number of schools aided from the primary fund there are above 338,000 pupils, of whom it is estimated that about two-thirds, or 225,000, are in the lowest stage of instruction; 110,000 are able to read, write, and understand easy sentences out of a book, while at least 3,000 have reached a higher stage than this.

10. The report contains some suggestive and interesting paragraphs on the character of the instruction imparted in the indigenous schools of the country, the effect of the impulse given to primary education by the orders of 1872, the further degree of success which may reasonably be hoped for, and the dangers which have to be guarded against in extending and developing the present system. Such questions as these do not admit of proper and sufficient discussion within the limits of a Resolution, and the Lieutenant-Governor, while expressing his general concurrence in the Director's views, would rather commend these paragraphs to the perusal of those interested in the subject, than attempt to enter upon a detailed examination of the facts and arguments advanced in them.

11. Some remarks, however, appear to be called for upon the tendency which exists in some districts to raise the pathshalas to a standard unsuited to the requirements of those classes of the people for whom these schools were originally intended. Jessore, Moorshedabad, and Burdwan are noticed in the report as districts in which this tendency is specially conspicuous. It must be distinctly understood that it is not the policy of the Government to convert the pathsalas into cheap middle schools; and that the success of a pathsala is to be tested, not by the proficiency of the three or four boys who go up for the scholarship examination, but by the average progress of the general body of pupils.

12. The adoption of a system of payment by results is the best means of securing this end, while at the same time it allows a larger number of schools to be aided from the district grant. It is therefore satisfactory to find that this system, in one form or another, is now being very generally introduced. In some districts the plan adopted is that of rewards after examination; in others, that of the payment of remuneration according to the classification of schools; in others, again, the payment is made to depend on the result of the inspecting officer's report. In several of the Behar districts the supervision of the village punchayets has been employed with very successful results. The Lieutenant-Governor would by no means desire to pass any orders tending to reduce these diversities of practice to one uniform standard. It is for the local officers to determine, in consultation with the circle inspectors, the system best adapted to the conditions and requirements of their respective districts. The present report affords abundant evidence of the attention which District Magistrates have devoted to the subject. The Magistrate of Bankoora, Mr. Larminie, deserves honourable mention for the elaboration of a scheme under which Bankoora has a larger proportion of school-going children to population than any other district in Bengal. The system, however, though it works admirably in Bankoora, is inapplicable to a large district. The plan originated by Mr. Harrison in Midnapore has continued to give excellent results during the year, and has been successfully introduced into the Balasore district. In the 24-Pergunnahs Mr. Wilson has adopted a system, based upon a scheme of the late Mr. Woodrow, of rewards for the attainment of certain educational standards. The Magistrates of Noakholly and Balasore, and the Deputy Commissioner of Manbhoon, have exerted themselves in various ways for the promotion of primary education, and the differences of system which prevail in these and in many other districts are really a measure of the intelligent appreciation given by the respective officers to the varying circumstances of their districts and to the special difficulties which have to be overcome.

13. The standard for the primary scholarship examination was considerably raised this year, and the test is said to have been very strictly enforced. In all, 3,110 schools sent up 11,462 candidates, and of these 5,246 passed and 386 obtained scholarships, the rest receiving certificates of merit according to their proficiency. It is noticeable that this year girls competed for this scholarship for the first time, and that in Jessore one girl obtained a scholarship, while in Tipperah three girls passed and one obtained a scholarship, standing first on the whole list. In Bhagulpore the scholarships appear to have been awarded without examination, a circumstance which calls for explanation from the Commissioner, as the omission to hold an examination in that district was noticed in the Resolution upon last year's report. On the whole, the Director thinks it is certain that the results of the year show a great advance. But there seems some reason to fear that these scholarships, which were intended to assist gifted boys of the lowest social classes in prosecuting their studies to a higher standard, are in many cases awarded to candidates who were simply attached to the pathsalas by the prospect of a scholarship, and who would otherwise have studied in a middle school. It is thought worthy of special notice that in one case the son of a weaver, and in another case the son of a milkman, obtained a scholarship; whereas instances of this kind should have been the rule, and not the exception. The Director will be invited to consider whether any regulations can be devised to restrict a practice which tends to defeat the object which the Government had in view in establishing these rewards.

14. The area of secondary instruction, which reaches from the standard of the primary schools to the standard of the University Entrance Examination, was enlarged during the year by the establishment of the new class of intermediate schools. The present returns include 1,501 intermediate vernacular schools with 52,650 pupils, and 112 intermediate English schools with 4,328 pupils. These intermediate schools are principally improved pathshalas; in some cases they are reduced middle schools, and in a few instances they are newly-founded schools. But it is generally agreed that the vernacular schools of this class have been much more useful than those which attempt to give instruction in English. While the vernacular schools have in general risen from a lower grade, the English schools have, with scarcely an exception, been brought down from a higher class. This result, indeed, is the natural consequence of the low standard which at present prevails in the middle English schools; and it may be confidently asserted that until the teaching, and especially the English teaching, in schools of this class shall have been generally improved, no room will be found for the establishment of an intermediate class between the middle and the primary schools. After full consideration, the Lieutenant-Governor has lately determined to discontinue the award of the special scholarship for intermediate English schools, and this will no doubt be followed by the disappearance of this class of schools from the returns.

15. As the examination for intermediate scholarships was held for the first time during the year, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it sufficient to notice, rather than to censure, the laxity with which the rules upon the subject were enforced. It was the intention of Government that primary schools should be allowed to elect whether they would compete for the primary or for the intermediate scholarship. But it appears that these orders were generally interpreted to mean that any school which pleased might send up candidates for the intermediate scholarships, and the natural result was that the majority of these scholarships were awarded to students from middle schools—a class of pupils for whom the scholarships were not designed, and to whose attainments the prescribed standard was not adapted. For the intermediate vernacular scholarship 723 schools sent up 1,645 candidates, of whom 867 passed and 185 obtained scholarships: for the English scholarship the number of schools was 76, and that of candidates 201. Of these, 146 passed and 39 obtained scholarships. The Director has since issued a circular calling attention to the true meaning of the Government orders on this subject, and it is hoped that all possibility of misapprehension will now have been removed.

16. The number of middle vernacular schools decreased during the year from 1,259 schools with 59,304 pupils to 1,045 schools with 51,718 pupils. The causes of this decrease have already been explained: some schools have been abolished in consequence of the reduction of the grant, and others have fallen to the intermediate standard. The decrease was in the aided and private schools: the Government schools maintained their numbers, but showed no appreciable increase. The results of the vernacular scholarship examination, which is the recognized test of the education given in these schools, contrast very unfavourably with those of the preceding year. In 1876, 824 middle schools sent up 3,003 candidates, of whom 1,359 passed and 218 obtained scholarships. In 1875, 2,521 candidates passed out of 4,062 who presented themselves for examination. It is suggested in the report that this is due in some measure to the recent modifications introduced into the scholarship course. But this explanation is insufficient to account for so serious a decline, and the fact that more than one-fifth of the schools failed to send up any candidates at all affords a proof that middle school teaching requires to be actively stimulated and carefully supervised.

17. The returns for middle English schools point to a similar conclusion. In 1875-76 these schools numbered 623 with 34,072 pupils: in 1876-77 the numbers fell to 511 schools and 30,072 pupils. The progress in these schools is tested by the minor scholarship examination; and it appears that in the year under report 292 middle English schools sent up 923 candidates for this scholarship, and that of these 486 passed and 108 obtained scholarships. It follows that only three schools in every five compete at all for the scholarship, and that there are 220 schools shown in the returns as middle English schools which are unable to send up any candidates for the examination which is the recognized standard of their class. In the previous year there were 1,140 candidates for the minor scholarship, and of these 816, or 72 per cent., passed; whereas in the present year the proportion of successful candidates is only about 53 per cent. The returns do not show what proportion of the competing schools succeeded in passing any of their candidates; and the Lieutenant-Governor would ask that this may be stated in future reports, as regards both vernacular and English middle schools.

18. It is easy to trace the causes of this decline both in the numbers of middle schools and in the character of the instruction given in them; but it is a matter of more difficulty to suggest a remedy. The fact appears to be that, though the middle vernacular schools in many cases retain much of the stamp of excellence originally impressed upon them, they have in general ceased to be popular institutions. To a promising or ambitious boy, vernacular education, however excellent, seems to hold out little prospect of a successful career. He feels that, even if he obtains a scholarship, he will compete on disadvantageous terms in the struggle for the coveted prize of Government service with rivals who began the study of English at an earlier age. But if, in the vernacular middle schools, the decline is owing to the falling off of pupils, the low standard of English middle schools arises from the deficiency of the teaching staff. The Director remarks that schools of this class are very popular; it must be added that in general they are also very worthless. The teaching which they give is in no sense education, and can scarcely even be called instruction. Its prominent feature is the attempt made by untrained masters, themselves very imperfectly acquainted with English, to impart a smattering of English to boys who have never studied their own vernacular, and have never been grounded in any useful branches of learning. In his recent tours of inspection, the Lieutenant-Governor noticed with much concern the waste of time and money expended in producing these unprofitable results, and the social mischief of encouraging lads to aim at a class of education which was only within their reach in a very inefficient form, and which certainly exposed them to the probability of hearing disappointments when their school career is finished.

19. The policy which the Government desires to adopt in reference to this matter has been explained in orders which have recently been issued. In all Government middle schools it is intended that sound vernacular training shall be made the preliminary to English education, and in aided schools the acceptance of a similar principle will be a condition of the receipt of a Government grant. With this object, candidates for the minor scholarship examination will be required to pass the full vernacular tests, and, if the necessary books shall be forthcoming, it will also be required that English grammar shall be taught in the vernacular. It is also intended to increase the number of Government middle schools, as it is found that a Government school usually serves as a model to aided and private schools in its neighbourhood. The Government vernacular middle schools at the sudder stations of districts are for the most part of excellent quality, and similar schools will now be established in subdivisions. The working of these orders will require to be very carefully watched by the inspecting officers of the department, and it must be clearly understood that the Government has no desire to prohibit, or even to discourage, the study of English in middle schools, but only to require that the teaching shall conform to the object with which the schools were founded—namely, the imparting of sound vernacular instruction.

20. The vitality of the higher English schools, teaching up to the standard of the Entrance Examination, is shown by the fact that, under all the difficulties of the year, they increased both in number and pupils, the figures for the last two years being as follows:—

		1875-76.		1876-77
		Schools.	Pupils.	Schools.	Pupils.
Government schools	...	45	11,952	48	12,235
Aided schools	...	85	9,550	88	10,365
Private schools	...	43	11,027	44	10,357
Total	...	173	32,529	180	32,957

It is also worthy of notice that, whereas a large proportion of middle schools are unable, as already shown, to send up candidates for middle scholarships, the number of higher schools which send up candidates for the Entrance is actually greater than the whole number of schools shown in the returns. Candidates were sent up by 175 schools in 1875-76 and by 185 schools in 1876-77. The explanation of this of course is that some private schools, which do not appear in the returns, send up candidates; but the general result is a striking proof that a fairly high standard is maintained on the average in all schools of this class.

21. The system of net grants to zillah schools, originated by Sir George Campbell in 1872, has produced excellent results, and the term of five years, for which the grants were originally made, having expired, the grants have been renewed for three years with such modifications as experience has shown to be required. Schools have been arranged in three classes, the number of pupils in the school being taken as the basis of classification, and a standard scale of establishment has been fixed for each class. The system of net grants possesses a double advantage: it tends at the same time to promote private liberality, and to check injudicious expenditure, and the steady improvement which Government schools of the higher class have shown during the last few years in numbers, popularity, and efficiency, may in great part be ascribed to the working of this system under the superintendence of the local committees.

22. For the Entrance Examination of December 1876, 185 schools sent up 1,849 candidates, and 1,005 of these passed, 18 per cent. of these being placed in the first division, 57 per cent. in the second, and 25 per cent. in the third. The total percentage of successful candidates was 54·3, against 31 in the previous year. In the Government schools 65·4 per cent. of the candidates passed, the Hindu and Hare Schools in Calcutta taking, as usual, the highest place. The report suggests reasons for thinking that the marked improvement shown this year may fairly be attributed, not to any relaxation of the standard, but to better preparation on the part of the candidates. Next to the Calcutta schools, the Dacca collegiate school occupied the most honourable place, and among the zillah schools the two schools of Burrisal and Mymensingh. The position taken by the schools at Berhampore, Chittagong, Arrah, Pubna, and Balasore calls for some departmental inquiry into the causes of their want of success.

23. The Government colleges teaching up to the B.A. standard are now six in number, the Kishnaghur and Cuttack colleges having opened 4th-year classes during the year. There are also six Government colleges of the second grade, in which instruction is confined to the standard of the First Arts Examination. There are six aided colleges and three unaided, of which last class the Metropolitan Institution in Calcutta is the only one which contains any considerable number of college students. The large proportion of candidates who passed the Entrance Examination had the natural effect of raising the number of students in the colleges; but the increase was greatest in the aided and unaided institutions. The numbers in the Presidency and Dacca colleges remained stationary. There was some increase at Hooghly and Patna, and a large increase at Kishnaghur, owing to the popularity of the college from the restoration of the B.A. classes. The infant college at Cuttack, which was founded only two years ago, also shows a considerable accession of students. The total number of under-graduate pupils in the Government colleges was 1,001, and in the aided colleges 556, or a total number of 1,557, against a total of 1,249 in the previous year and 1,213 in 1874-75. The numbers in unaided colleges cannot be accurately given.

24. The expenditure upon college education is shown in the following table:—

		Government fund.	Fees and private funds.	Total.
		Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Government colleges	...	2,00,335	88,805	2,89,140
Aided colleges	...	24,197	83,631	1,07,828
		2,24,532	1,72,436	3,96,968

The figures differ little from those of the preceding year, and the increase is attributable to the larger number of students. The average annual cost of the education of each student is Rs. 407 in a Government college and Rs. 308 in an aided college.

25. For the First Arts Examination, which takes place at the end of two years from matriculation, 330 candidates appeared and 151 passed. The Kishnaghur and Hooghly colleges were specially distinguished, while among the Dacca students there was a general failure. It is observable that a large majority of the successful candidates elected the course in science for their studies for the B.A. degree. For the B.A. examination there were 242 candidates and 115 passed, the general result being thus much better than those of the previous year. From the Government colleges 57 per cent. of the candidates satisfied the examiners, and the results would have been much better even than these had it not been for the failure of the students from Dacca and Patna. For the M.A. examination there were 23 candidates for honours in Arts, of whom 15 were successful, while eight candidates out of 17 obtained the ordinary M.A. degree.

26. In the Resolution upon last year's report, the paucity of those who take degrees in the University, in comparison with the number who matriculate, was noticed as a serious blot in our educational results. It was pointed out that the graduates in Arts are only about one-tenth of the number who matriculate. The Lieutenant-Governor is therefore glad to observe that the results of the year under review show a marked improvement in this respect. The 702 candidates who matriculated in 1874-75 were eligible this year for the First Arts Examination, and, as has already been remarked, 330 presented themselves and 151 passed. Similarly, in 1874-75 144 candidates passed the First Arts and were eligible this year for the B.A. degree, which 115 students actually obtained, or, in other words, the graduates in Arts this year were 80 per cent. of the whole number who passed the First Arts standard two years before. Such results as these cannot fail to exercise a marked influence, at no distant date, on the character of the educated classes, and, through them, on that of the people at large. It rests, indeed, with the University, rather than with the Government, to direct the course of college study, and to ensure that the distinction of a degree shall imply the possession of those mental qualities which generally distinguish men of sound and solid education. These qualities, the Director thinks, are now found in the successful candidates at the examinations for honours; the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that he is right, for it is a matter of deep interest to the Government that education of this type should be extended to a larger circle of students.

27. The department of special instruction includes the subjects of law, medicine, civil engineering, surveying and industrial schools, and the School of Art in Calcutta. There are five Government colleges to which law classes are attached, but the number of students has steadily declined for some years past. The civil engineering department of the Presidency College and the English department of the Medical College show a similar falling off, and for the present there seems reason to think that these professions are overstocked. But if this is really the case, the evil is one which may be trusted to work its own remedy. The vernacular medical and survey schools, which draw their pupils from a lower social stratum, and qualify for a less ambitious professional career, are working successfully. In the School of Art the students decreased from 134 to 119, but there was an increase in the Government expenditure which calls for explanation. The industrial school at Dacca is in a languishing condition; while the school recently opened at Ranchi is doing useful, if humble, work under the management of Mr. Herzog of the Chota Nagpore Mission. The industrial school at Dehree, though expensive, is an excellent and efficient institution with 78 pupils on the rolls, partly Europeans and partly Natives. The funds raised for the proposed industrial school at Bankipore have fallen very far short of the amount originally expected, and the scheme is for the present in abeyance. The Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to think that, with the consent of the subscribers, it might be desirable to utilize this money by founding additional studentships at Dehree, where there are already a qualified staff of instructors and all appliances for teaching.

28. On a general review of this province of the department of education, the Lieutenant-Governor is compelled to express his regret not only that so little has actually been done, but that the native community show so little desire to take up the important question of technical instruction in an earnest and practical spirit. Of the two Associations in Calcutta which were referred to in last year's report as having been founded for the promotion of technical education, it is understood that one confines its efforts to the delivery of occasional lectures, and that the other has made no progress at all towards effecting its object. The question of industrial schools has been very fully discussed: the advantages of an independent career have been theoretically admitted; the Government has announced its readiness to give all the assistance in its power. What is now required is not the advocacy, but the example, of those classes of society which, in spite of all warnings and all disappointments, continue to overcrowd the public service, and to expend, in competitions for ill-paid clerkships, energies and abilities which might ensure a prosperous and lucrative career in other walks of life. It has occurred to the Lieutenant-Governor that something might be done to establish scholarships from selected schools in various parts of the country tenable at Dehree, or the new Public Works School being established in Calcutta. Some of these scholarships might be reserved for European and Eurasian schools, and possibly persons interested in technical education might be found willing to endow such scholarships at all events for a term of years. Such workshops as those at Dehree are far more efficient for the purpose of technical instruction than any schools likely to be established by private persons.

29. The following figures show the progress in female education during the year. Schools for native girls increased from 403 with 9,690 pupils to 464 with 10,492 pupils, and the number of native girls studying in boys' schools rose from 7,186 to 9,794. Altogether there were 20,286 girls under instruction, against 16,876 in the previous year. Besides these, there were 17 schools for European girls, with 1,339 pupils. The success of some girls in the competition for primary scholarships has already been noticed, and the progress made in girls' schools in the mofussil is reported to be satisfactory; the schools under the management of the Utterpara Hitakari Sobha being specially efficient and successful. In Calcutta, a large proportion of the Government expenditure on native female education is incurred in aiding the missionary zenana agencies, and, from the reports furnished by Mrs. M. Wheeler, the Deputy Inspectress of Schools, it seems doubtful whether any adequate return for this outlay is received. The Bethune School in Calcutta shows some increase in the number of pupils, and a lower school has been added to it for the benefit of the poorer classes; but the school cannot be considered successful, and its reorganization on a wider basis is under the consideration of Government.

30. The necessity for devoting a special section of the report to the subject of Mahomedan education arises not so much from the absence of Mahomedans from the general schools of the country, as from the fact that a separate fund (the Mohsin Endowment) is assigned to the promotion of education among this class of the community. This endowment is expended partly in the maintenance of five madrissas for instruction in oriental learning, partly in the award of Mohsin scholarships to deserving Mahomedan students, and partly in the payment at ordinary colleges and schools of a portion of the fees of Mahomedan pupils of the poorer classes. The madrissas are reported to have worked successfully during the year, especially the Calcutta Madrissa, which has shown a steady increase in numbers for several years past. But, on the whole, the number of Mahomedan pupils in all Government and aided schools showed a diminution from 91,223 (or 19·4 per cent. of the whole number of boys at school) to 81,585, or 17·2 per cent. This is attributable to the decrease in the number of primary schools in those districts which have a large Mahomedan population, as Mahomedan boys attend the pathsalas more largely than any other class of schools. It is observable that in schools of special instruction, as law and medicine, Mahomedans are scarcely found, except in Behar. In the Patna Medical School they form a large majority of the students. In the B.A. examination of the University the Mahomedan candidates did well, four passing out of ten who presented themselves, and three of these in the first division.

31. The reductions made during the year in the number and cost of normal schools were due to the carrying out of the policy explained in the Resolution upon last year's report. It is intended that a first grade normal school shall be maintained in each Commissioner's division, and that schools of the second and third grades shall be confined to backward districts, in which schools of secondary instruction are few. During the year under review there were seven Government schools of the first grade, four of the second, and 14 of the third, and from these schools 718 gurus received certificates of qualification as teachers of primary schools, and 163 candidates passed the examination for masterships in middle and higher schools. The Director thinks that the stipend allowance in normal schools is too small, and that the schools at their present strength cannot supply a sufficient number of pundits. But the Lieutenant-Governor remarks that hardly any effect has yet been given to that part of the orders of 1875 which provided that normal schools of the first grade should be examining as well as teaching bodies. The purport of these orders should be generally explained, and uncertificated masters should be encouraged to attend the examinations with the object of obtaining certificates. It is impossible for the Government to undertake to give stipends to all those who adopt the profession of pundits; and the full benefit of the normal school system can only be realized by a general application of the principle that these schools are institutions for testing results as well as for imparting instruction.

32. The following statement exhibits the details of schools and pupils, and the distribution of funds under the grant-in-aid system, during the last two years :—

		1875-76.	1876-77.
Number of aided schools and colleges	...	1,889	1,833
Number of pupils	... ..	88,112	88,059
		Rs.	Rs.
Receipts from Government	... ..	4,30,128	4,37,564
Total receipts	... ..	13,17,286	14,09,410

There has thus been some decrease in the number of schools, while the number of pupils is nearly the same, and the expenditure, both of Government money and of private funds, shows a considerable increase. As was the case last year, the largest share of Government expenditure was for middle English schools and for female education. Complaints of irregularities in the mode of keeping the accounts of aided schools, and of the imperfection of the present system of checks, have from time to time been brought to the notice of Government. The present report discusses in some detail a scheme proposed by the Inspector of the Presidency Circle for simplifying the accounts, and ensuring the maintenance of an efficient teaching staff in schools of this class. The annual report, however, is not the proper place for bringing forward proposals of this kind; and any suggestions which the Director desires to offer on the subject should be separately submitted.

33. The question of the education of European and East Indian children was discussed at length in last year's report, and it was then remarked that sufficient school accommodation had been provided for this class of the community. Accordingly, no increase in the number of these schools was found necessary during the year, but some additional aid was given, in the form of capitation grants, to several of the Calcutta schools. From the census returns of Calcutta, it appears that there are about 3,500 European and East Indian children of school-going age in the town; and the returns show that 2,942 children were actually attending schools aided by Government on the 31st March 1877. Adding to these the children at unaided schools, there appears no reason to think that any considerable want remains to be supplied.

34. The strength of the inspecting staff, though considerably increased under recent orders, is reported to be still very insufficient for the number of schools which are now under the supervision of the department. Including two special officers, the number of Deputy Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors of Schools is 202, and there are no less than 21,532 schools under inspection, giving each officer an average of above 106 schools to supervise. Proposals are under consideration for re-distributing the present inspecting circles and for appointing assistant inspectors. But it is evident that, if every school is to be locally visited, the present inspecting agency ought to be doubled; and this would involve an expenditure which it is entirely beyond the power of the Government to incur. The only practicable solution of the difficulty is that suggested in the report, viz. to bring the primary schools, which far outnumber the schools of all other grades, under a system of payment by results, which will in a great measure dispense with the necessity for local visits.

35. A general summary of the results of the year, as gathered from the foregoing paragraphs, shows that, while the work of the department has been conducted under some difficulties and disadvantages, considerable progress has been made, and a still further measure of success may be hoped for in the future. In particular, the educational history of the year is characterized by two circumstances which appear to the Lieutenant-Governor to afford special ground for satisfaction—the large increase in the funds contributed by the people themselves to schools of every class, and the marked success of the candidates from Bengal schools and colleges in the examinations of the University. The former of these shows that the present system of public instruction is founded upon a secure basis; that it is not merely a Government department, but a national institution. The latter affords a proof that this confidence is not misplaced; that the contributions, both of Government and of the community, are usefully expended; and that, while the basis of education in Bengal is broad, the superstructure also is high. These are results upon which, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, both the officers of the department and the people at large may justly be congratulated.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information and guidance.

Ordered also that copies be forwarded to all Commissioners of divisions for their information and guidance, and for communication to District Magistrates and District Committees, and that the attention of the Commissioner of Bhagulpore be invited to paragraph 13 of the Resolution.

which the present investigation agency ought to be held; and this would involve an expenditure which is entirely beyond the power of the Government to meet. The only practicable solution of the difficulty is suggested in the report viz to bring the primary schools which are enumerated in the list of all other grades, under a system of payment by results, which will in a great measure dispose with the necessity of local visits.

33. A general summary of the results of the year, as gathered from the various paragraphs shows that while the work of the department has been conducted under some disadvantages and disadvantages, considerable progress has been made, and a still further measure of success may be hoped for in the future. In particular, the educational history of the year is summarized by two or three paragraphs which refer to the Educational Survey, to school grants, to the introduction of a new system of examination, and the marked success of the candidates from the school, and colleges in the examinations of the University. The former of these shows that the year of public instruction is found to be upon a more solid basis; that it is not merely a Government Department, but a national institution. The latter shows a proof that the community are really interested in the conditions of the Government and of the community, are really interested in the progress of education in the land, and the support which is high. These are results upon which, in the Government, a favorable opinion, both the office of the department and the people at large, are greatly to be congratulated.

Order.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information and guidance. Ordered also that copies be forwarded to all Commissioners of divisions for their information and guidance, and for communication to District Magistrates and District Commissioners, and that the attention of the Commissioner of the Department be invited to paragraph 18 of the Resolution.

No. 39, dated Fort William, the 5th January 1878.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Financial Department.

READ the undermentioned papers regarding the language in which the Service Books prescribed in section 72 of the Civil Pension Code should be kept:—

Letter from the Accountant General, Punjab, No. 718M, dated 17th August 1876.

Circular of the Financial Department, No. 2924, dated 19th September 1876.

Replies to the circular from the several Local Governments and Administrations:—

Government of Bengal, No. 262, dated 24th January 1877.

Ditto North-Western Provinces, No. 867A, dated 22nd November 1876.

Ditto Oudh, No. 4194, dated 3rd October 1876.

Ditto Punjab, No. 7, dated 8th January 1877.

Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 4078—107, dated 2nd November 1876.

Ditto British Burmah, No. 179—88, dated 17th February 1877.

Ditto Assam, No. 443, dated 16th March 1877.

Ditto Ajmere, No. 724, dated 29th November 1876.

Ditto Mysore, No. 411—2, dated 11th April 1877.

Resident at Hyderabad, No. 1963, dated 8th March 1877.

Government of Madras, No. 2777, dated 27th November 1877.

Ditto Bombay, No. 2201, dated 5th May 1877.

OWING to the difficulties pointed out by certain Local Governments, an uniform rule cannot be laid down regarding the language in which Service Books should be written. The Governor-General in Council, however, desires that, where it is possible and convenient, Local Governments should instruct heads of departments to enforce the practice of keeping the Service Books in English in all offices of which the head officer is acquainted with English. All the headings in the Service Books, without exception, should be printed in both English and the vernacular.

ORDERED that this Resolution be distributed for information and guidance as follows:—

CALCUTTA, THE 14TH JANUARY 1878.

FROM HORACE A. COCKERELL, Esq.,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

TO ALL HEADS OF OFFICES AND DEPARTMENTS.

SIR,

A CASE in which two sub-divisional officers were recently obliged to attend the criminal sessions in Calcutta for an entire week having been laid before the High Court, the Hon'ble Judges have explained that the inconvenience thereby caused was not one which could be met by the adoption of any general rule. The Hon'ble Judges have, however, intimated that upon a proper application being made in each case to the Judge exercising the original criminal jurisdiction of the Court, the convenience of public officers summoned as witnesses from the mofussil will always be duly considered.

SIR,

I am directed by the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate, in accordance with a resolution of the Faculty of Arts at their meeting on the 15th of November, to forward you a copy of the Report of the Sub-Committee of the Faculty appointed to consider the question of introducing changes into the F. A. and B. A. Courses, and to solicit an expression of your opinion as to the desirability of the changes therein recommended.

SIR,

MEMORANDUM.

OPINIONS from the Heads of affiliated Colleges, Directors of Public Instruction, and Inspectors of Schools, in answer to a letter addressed to them by the late Officiating Registrar, requesting them to give their views on the desirability of abolishing the passing-marks in all subjects except English, Mathematics and the second language for the A Course, and English, Mathematics and Chemistry for the B Course, printed in accordance with a Resolution of the Faculty of Arts at their meeting on the 12th of May 1877.

SENATE HOUSE,
The 16th May 1877. }

CHARLES H. TAWNEY,
Registrar.

WITH reference to your letter dated 13th March 1877, I have the honour to state that, in my opinion, the proposed plan of abolishing the passing mark in all subjects except English, Mathematics and second language for the A Course, and English, Mathematics and Chemistry for the B Course, would constitute an improvement on the present system.

2. We may no doubt expect that students will not be so regular as heretofore in attendance at all the lectures given in their College when the new system is adopted. This, however, is not necessarily an evil. I see no reason to anticipate any injury to the discipline of a College as resulting from the changes proposed.

DACCA,
The 16th March 1877. }

A. EWBANK,
Principal, Dacca College.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge your letter of the 13th of March 1877, and to submit my opinion on the question raised in paragraph 2.

If I may be permitted to state that opinion unreservedly, it is as follows :

I approve of the proposal to abolish the passing-mark in all subjects except English, Mathematics and the second language for the A Course, and English, Mathematics and Chemistry for the B Course. The measure will, as far as I can judge, be advantageous both to the instruction and to the discipline of the Colleges.

From the secondary importance assigned to Philosophy I dissent ; but with the present text-books, Hamilton excepted, Philosophy can hardly be said to be recognized as part of the University curriculum. The proposed measure will, however, allow our students to take interest, and attain to proficiency, in the principal portions of the Course as at present constituted ; and, with many other Educational officers, I shall rejoice at any abatement of its perplexing multiplicity. Under the existing system, enthusiasm about any one department of study, such as is common among European University students, is usually precursory to failure in other departments. Enthusiasm is accordingly repressed. The effect of the contemplated change will be, I think, somewhat greater thoroughness in the teaching, and somewhat greater spontaneity of effort on the part of the taught.

BENARES,
The 17th March 1877. }

ARCHIBALD E. GOUGH, Offg. Principal, Benares College.

WITH reference to "the proposal to abolish the passing-mark in all subjects, except English, Mathematics and the second language for the A Course, and English, Mathematics and Chemistry for the B Course," I have the honor to state that the contemplated change is one which I shall heartily welcome. Its effect "upon the discipline and teaching of the Colleges" will, I feel sure, be a healthy one.

AGRA,
The 17th March 1877. }

K. DEIGHTON,
Principal, Govt. College, Agra.

WITH reference to your Circular, dated 13th March 1877, calling on me to state what effect the change therein proposed will, in my opinion, have upon the discipline and teaching of the Presidency Collège, I have the honor to inform you that I have no reason to believe it will have a prejudicial effect upon either. On the contrary, I anticipate great advantages from it, as it will enable those students who take a real interest in some one subject, say English Literature or Chemistry, to devote more time to their favourite study.

I should myself be inclined to go a step further: I would make it possible for a student, after passing the First Arts Examination, to discard Mathematics altogether, and go out in Literature and History only. This reform would necessitate many other changes; but I trust I may be permitted to express my opinion, that it would be a great boon to many students who have a taste for Literature, and prefer attaining a sound knowledge of English to acquiring a smattering of many subjects.

PRESIDENCY COLLEGE, }
The 19th March 1877. }

CHARLES H. TAWNEY,
Principal, Presidency College.

IN reply to your letter dated the 13th March 1877, I beg to state that, in my opinion, the contemplated alteration mentioned in the second paragraph of your letter will practically have no effect upon the discipline and teaching of the Hooghly College, because the minimum number of marks required, as stated in paragraph 1, is sufficiently high to oblige ordinary students to take up the optional subjects (viz., Botany and Physical Geography), and to ensure their regular attendance at these lectures.

HOOGHLY COLLEGE. }
The 19th March 1877. }

W. GRIFFITH,
Offg. Principal, Hooghly College.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 13th March, regarding the proposal to abolish the passing-marks in all subjects, except English, Mathematics and second language for the A Course, and English, Mathematics and Chemistry for the B Course.

In reply, I beg to say that I fully concur with the proposal. It will have no bad effect on the discipline or teaching of this School.

JUBBULPORE, }
The 19th March 1877. }

W. YOUNG,
President, High School, Jubbulpore.

IN reply to your letter of the 13th instant, I have the honor to inform you that I think the alteration proposed by the Syndicate respecting the change to be made in the passing-marks of the B. A. Examination will be beneficial on the ground that it will tend to make those who take up the principal subjects more proficient than was likely to be the case when their energies were scattered over a wider area.

I cannot tell what effect it would have upon the discipline and teaching of the College, as we have not as yet taught up to this standard; but I am strongly of opinion that it would be generally satisfactory, as the instructive staff of the Colleges in these Provinces is, as a general rule, not strong enough to undertake the direct instruction of all the branches of study laid down in the University curriculum, and consequently one or more of the subjects (as History and Philosophy of the A Course) is left almost entirely to the independent efforts of the students themselves.

AGRA, }
The 21st March 1877. }

S. SHARMAN,
Principal, Victoria College, Agra.

WITH reference to paragraph 3 of your letter dated 13th instant, I have the honor to state that Cuttack College takes up the Science Course only, and so far as the proposed alteration in the "passing-marks" affects this course, I disapprove of its adoption. If no minimum be enforced, Orissa students will, I fear, give but small attention to either Physical Geography or Botany; and Science for the B. A. degree in the alternate course would be little more than nominal.

CUTTACK, }
The 23rd March 1877. }

J. AGER,
Principal, Govt. College, Cuttack.

IN reply to your letter dated the 13th instant, I have the honor to state that, in my humble opinion, every one of the subjects laid down in the Course requires pass-marks to secure it from being neglected. As Oriental Examiner of the Punjab University College in all the Sanskrit subjects, I can say from personal knowledge that particular subjects may be safely neglected when, by care and diligence bestowed on the others, comparatively high aggregates can be secured.

2. The proposed abolition of pass-marks would be likely, therefore, I think, to have a prejudicial effect on the studies of the pupils of our colleges. The change proposed, if effected, may lead, I am afraid, to a neglect of such important subjects in the A Course as Logic and Philosophy.

3. On the supreme importance of Logic, the most fundamental of the Sciences, it is unnecessary to dwell. There is a saying in Sanskrit, युको न्याय विवर्जितः (one without Logic is dumb). Philosophy indeed still continues to be the battle-field of opposed schools of thought. But in spite of this a liberal course of education would, I humbly think, be incomplete, if it imparted no knowledge of what has been achieved in this field. Both Logic and Philosophy would seem, therefore, to have strong claims to be compulsory subjects at the B. A. Examination. This they are not, and I think it, therefore, all the more desirable that those who at all take up one or other of these subjects should be under some sort of compulsion to devote considerable attention to it.

4. The subjects in which it is proposed that pupils should attain 33 per cent. of the total marks in order to pass, could not certainly be neglected, and if, in addition to these, the comparatively unimportant subject of History were carefully got up, I think an A Course student could manage to pass without much knowledge of either Philosophy or, alternatively, Logic.

5. If pass-marks are to be abolished at all, they should be abolished, I think, for all the subjects except English, which, being now the language of culture and public business throughout the country, possesses a commanding importance. As for Mathematics, I know of boys who, otherwise very intelligent, have possessed small aptitude for it. Others again I have known who, though very clear-headed and good in mathematics, have possessed so weak a verbal memory that the acquisition of language has been a great difficulty to them. The knowledge of a dead classical language is comparatively unprofitable, considering the labor that has to be bestowed upon it. Taking all these things into account, I venture to think that if pass-marks are abolished, they should be abolished for all the subjects except English.

SANSKRIT COLLEGE,
The 24th March 1877.

}

MAHESA CHANDRA NYAYARATNA, Offg. Principal, Sanskrit College.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your circular letter dated the 13th instant, intimating that the Syndicate has raised the passing-marks at the B. A. Examination, and asking my opinion regarding the proposal to abolish the passing-marks in all subjects with certain specified exceptions.

My opinion is strongly in favor of the proposal, which, if adopted, will undoubtedly tend to raise the standard of scholarship; since students will feel themselves more at liberty, than under the present system, to concentrate their attention on those subjects for which they may have a special liking or aptitude. Their knowledge may thus be somewhat narrowed in its range, but it will be much less superficial.

The introduction of the measure would not, I apprehend, in this College, where the number of the students in the B. A. classes is necessarily small, have any appreciable effect either on the teaching or the discipline. It is not likely that students, especially since the passing-marks have been raised, will entirely neglect any of the subjects in which they are to be examined. That would imperil too much their chance of success. They will, therefore, I think, eliminate from their private reading those non-imperative subjects for which they have no particular liking, but will endeavour to gain some smattering of them by close attention to the lectures upon them in the class-room. I may add that the other members of the College staff entirely concur with me in this view.

PATNA,
The 26th March 1877.

}

J. W. McCRINDLE,
Principal, Patna College.

WITH reference to your letter dated 13th March 1877, I have the honor to state that my opinion is in favor of the alteration proposed. The change, so far as it goes, is, no doubt, a radical one, being one that affects the whole character and original constitution of the B. A. Examination. That examination will now pass the line of a mere Pass Examination and begin to approximate to an Honor Examination, which I should regard as a result to be desiderated. The alteration proposed will bear upon our school education in this way. Some few successful B. A. students and a considerable number who have read up to the B. A. standard, but have failed to pass the examination, become Head Masters of our higher class English schools.

After the alteration comes into force, the having passed or having read for the B. A. Examination will, of course, cease to carry with it, as it does now, the presumption that the student has a fair B. A. standard knowledge of all the B. A. subjects. He may, for instance, have neglected the study of History altogether, and so far his excellence as a general instructor and supervisor of all the teaching carried on in his school may be impaired. I regard, however, the fact that such a student must have passed the F. A. Examination as a sufficient guarantee that he possesses the general knowledge of the non-obligatory subjects that is required for the post in question, while I think that his superior attainments in the more important branches of study more than compensate any loss of general efficiency that may possibly result.

Dacca,
The 26th March 1877. }

W. T. WEBB,
Offg. Insp. of Schools, E. B. Circle.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter without number, dated 13th March 1877, on the subject of certain modifications of the Course for the B. A. degree.

2. With regard to the point on which you do me the honor of asking my opinion, I beg to reply that the proposal to abolish "the passing-marks" in such subjects as History, &c., has my cordial approval, as calculated to ensure a much more complete mastery of the smaller number of subjects, the majority of which candidates will, in all probability, thenceforward take up.

3. As regards the effect which this change is likely to have upon the discipline and teaching in the Colleges, I am able to speak from my experience of Dacca College only. I expect nothing but good from the change. The Principal of the College, while he will consult as far as possible the wishes, and consider the special talents of the under-graduates under his charge, will be enabled to economise the teaching power at his disposal to much better purpose. He will not be obliged, for instance, to make a teacher strong in Mathematics waste his energies in superintending the cramming of History or Physical Geography, in addition to teaching his own subject. In a college, officered as the Presidency College is lectures may be delivered on all of the subjects in the Course. But in the smaller colleges, the Principal will arrange the lectures with regard to the teaching power supplied him, one or other of the optional subjects being excluded as this consideration may dictate. As to discipline, the under-graduates may be required to attend all the lectures so arranged, or in certain cases they may be allowed to attend some only, and to get up other subjects by themselves, at the discretion of the Principal. The discipline of the College need be affected no more than was the case when the B. Course was introduced, and the small colleges had to economise their teaching force accordingly, or when the system of allowing ex-students to attend certain lectures only was introduced.

CAMP RAMPORHAT,
The 26th March 1877. }

A. W. GARRETT,
Inspector of Schools, P. C.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 13th instant, (1) informing me of the fact that the Syndicate have raised the passing-marks at the B. A. Examination, according to a scale therein specified, and (2) requesting my opinion on a proposal to abolish the passing-marks in all subjects except English, Mathematics and the second language for the A Course, and English, Mathematics and Chemistry for the B Course.

2. It is my opinion that this proposal should be adopted. If it is adopted, justice will at last be done to a deserving class of our students. I regard this proposal as a further step in the same direction as that which was taken when the system of options was introduced,—a step towards recognizing the differences which naturally exist between different minds, but which do not imply any inferiority on the part of the one or of the other. From this alteration I do not anticipate any injurious effect upon the discipline or teaching of the colleges, because I think that none of the students will be so confident of their success in the compulsory subjects (especially since the aggregate of marks for passing has been raised) as to neglect those subjects in which the passing marks are abolished. In fact, these voluntary subjects, if I may so call them, are regarded as somewhat easier than the others, and will be studied for the special purpose of obtaining the additional marks now required by the Syndicate. I may add that the raising of the passing-marks, with which the proposed alteration is to be accompanied, is regarded as a great hardship by many of the students, namely, those whose moderate attainments do not justify them in hoping for more than a bare "pass" in the all subjects.

Calcutta,
The 27th March 1877. }

JAMES WILSON,
Offg. Principal, Genl. Assembly Institution.

IN reply to your circular of 13th March, I have the honor to state that I have consulted on the subject therein referred to with Mr. Gall, the Professor of Science and Mathematics in our College, and we are both of opinion that raising the pass-marks for the B. A. degree would have a beneficial effect. We would suggest, however, that Physics be substituted for Chemistry, as the subject in which pass-marks must be obtained. Chemistry the students have already studied to a certain extent, but Physics is a new subject to them and forms the bulk of the B Course. The latter subject, therefore, is certain to be neglected if it be not made compulsory, and the probable result will be that the student will fail to make up the requisite 180 marks on the whole examination.

LUCKNOW,
The 27th March 1877. }

MICHAEL J. WHITE, M. A.,
Principal, Canning College.

WITH reference to your circular letter dated 13th March 1877, respecting alterations proposed to be made in the passing-marks at the B. A. Examination for the A and B Courses alike, I have the honor to reply as follows.

2. I am of opinion that the raising of the marks will be beneficial, qualified as the measure will be by the proposal not to require the full passing-mark of 33 per cent. in more than three subjects in either course.

3. I do not feel satisfied, however, that Physics should form one of the subjects selected for leniency in the B Course. This subject constitutes the bulk of the B Course, and some colleges have made special arrangements for its teaching. I would, therefore, suggest that Chemistry be substituted for Physics and be classified with Physical Geography.

LUCKNOW,
The 29th March 1877. }

JOHN C. NESFIELD,
Director of Public Instruction, Oudh.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th ultimo.

2. By the abolition of the passing-marks in the subjects of Mental and Moral Philosophy, Logic and History in the A Course, and in the subjects of Physics and Natural Science in the B Course, it is apprehended that these subjects will be neglected by students studying for their degree. They will, I think, usually be content to qualify for their degree in English, a second language, and elementary Mathematics for the A Course, or in English, Mathematics and Chemistry for the B Course. Possibly, some students will guard against failure by reading privately History for the A Course, or some group of subjects in Physics or Natural Science for the B Course.

3. We have no college in the Central Provinces, and the abolition of the pass-marks in the subjects mentioned would facilitate the establishment of a college, as fewer Professors would be required.

4. But speaking without especial reference to these provinces, I would say, that the value of an ordinary degree is, that it is an assurance that a Bachelor of Arts is a gentleman of moderate culture in many branches of knowledge. If the pass-marks cease for certain subjects, then the standard is raised for other subjects, and the Calcutta University degree will represent that its possessor is well acquainted either with two languages and elementary mathematics, or with one language, elementary mathematics and chemistry. It seems to me that a Degree in Honors fittingly insists upon depth of knowledge, and that an ordinary Degree merely implies sound, yet varied culture. The pass-mark might then be retained for each subject in which a man is liable to examination, and such subjects for which the pass-mark is not retained may be definitely omitted from the curriculum. I could only recommend the omission of the pass-mark in certain subjects, if it is found by experience that the ordinary student cannot acquire a sound, yet moderate, knowledge of all the subjects in which he is liable to examination. And then the question arises, should the University set its stamp of approval on the education of a man who may know nothing of Philosophy and Natural Science or Physics? But this question, I understand, the Syndicate have already determined.

NAGPORE,

COLIN BROWNING, M. A.,
Insp. Genl. of Education, C. P.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 13th March 1877. With reference to paragraph 2 I beg to state that I am entirely in favor of the proposal therein made, and consider that its adoption would be an advantage to the discipline and teaching of the Colleges.

UMBALLA,
The 17th April 1877. }

C. R. COOKE,
Inspector of Schools, Umballa Circle.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 13th March 1877.

I welcome the decision of the Syndicate regarding the raising of pass-marks at the B. A. Examination with great pleasure. It will, without doubt, tend to produce a better class of educated men than what the University has hitherto turned out.

The restriction requiring candidates to obtain a certain percentage of marks in each subject is, in my opinion, a great drawback in the University system of examination, and has frequently been a source of complaint. Under this system, a student endowed with the natural ability and industry of a Grote, a Carlyle, or even a Newton, cannot hope to finish his University career with any degree of success, but a first-rate crammer can do so easily. I am in favor of abolishing pass-marks in all subjects, and would consider it sufficient if a candidate can keep a certain percentage of the total marks; but if this wholesale change cannot at present be carried out, I would consider the proposal contained in your letter under reply, which is to the effect that candidates will be required to keep a certain percentage of marks in some of the more important subjects, instead of in all, as an improvement over the existing system.

CUTTACK,
The 2nd May 1877. }

N. B. DAS,
Joint Insp. of Schools, Urisa Division.

By your communication dated March 13th, 1877, you invite the remarks of heads of colleges upon some changes contemplated by the Syndicate in the rules for the B. A. Examinations.

I quite approve of the proposed raising of the passing-marks mentioned in paragraph 1.

I think it a move in a right direction to abolish the passing-marks in some subjects, but I do not concur in the selection of the subjects for the B Course, in which the passing-mark 33 is to be retained. These subjects are English, Mathematics and Chemistry: now it seems to me that in the Science course, instead of giving prominence to Chemistry, for which one paper only is set, due notice should be taken of the optional subject in Physical Science, for which two papers are given and double the number of marks. I propose, therefore, to substitute Physical Science for Chemistry in the list of subjects for which pass-marks will be still required. If this cannot be done, let the option be given to the candidates to select either Chemistry or Physical Science as the subject for which they submit to the pass-marks. The adoption of Chemistry in preference to Physical Science would, in my opinion, ruin the B Course altogether.

REPORT.

THE Sub-Committee appointed by the Resolution of the Faculty of Arts, dated the 11th December 1876, to consider and report upon the question of introducing changes into the First Arts course in accordance with the proposals contained in the late Mr. Woodrow's letter, dated 7th October 1876, to the Registrar, have the honour to submit the following Report.

2. Those portions of Mr. Woodrow's letter which contain the proposals referred to the Sub-Committee are here subjoined for convenient reference.

From the Director of Public Instruction, to the Registrar of the Calcutta University, No. 4888, dated Darjeeling, the 7th October 1876.

The reports of the Examiners at the last First Arts and B. A. Examinations show that the students, as a body, do not acquire that knowledge of the Physical Sciences which, for their own benefit, and for the credit of the University, it is desirable for them to possess. From enquiries that I have instituted among the Principals of Colleges, and from my own experience, I am of opinion that their attention is directed to too many subjects. By the institution of the division of the A and B course for the B. A., the University has recognised this defect, and has endeavoured to correct it. It has also commenced an extension of the same division of studies for the First Arts, but as yet the division is confined to an option between Psychology and the Chemistry of the Metalloids. The necessity of passing in a classical language and in Ancient History at the First Arts involves so great a strain on the time and attention of the students, that their progress in the study of Physical Science is very small. Indeed, as the whole course of Chemistry is re-commenced after the First Arts Examination, and many students then begin for the first time the study of Science, it is clear that by the present regulations the University virtually commences the study of Physical Science after the First Arts.

The ever-increasing depth and width of the course of Science requires increased time for the investigation of even a small portion; and a fraction of a student's time during two years of his University Course is not sufficient for the work.

This difficulty has been experienced in all Universities, and at Oxford and Cambridge it has been surmounted by enabling the students for Mathematical and Physical Honors to satisfy the classical requirements of the University in the first term. At Cambridge, instead of taking the classical subjects required for the previous examination at the middle of the University Course, they take it at the beginning. A similar plan is pursued at Oxford.

I recommend that the same course be followed in our University, and that students who pass in Sanskrit at the Entrance Examination and declare for a course of Physical Science, be exempted from passing in Sanskrit, and, perhaps, in History, at the First Arts Examination. This exemption will involve an extension of their studies in Physical Science, and I respectfully recommend that the question of the expediency of extending to the First Arts Examination the principles of the division of studies between A. and B., or a Classical and Science course, may be referred to the Faculty of Arts for consideration. The University then would recognize more fully the two great divisions of human knowledge—the study of man and the study of nature. The lectures on the English language and the practice of composition in it would be common to the two great divisions, as no great advance can be made in either branch without a good knowledge of English. Probably, the Mathematical course might also be common, for the distinction between Pure and Mixed Mathematics is not very important. These matters, however, need not here be mentioned, for they would be discussed by the Faculty of Arts if the Syndicate be pleased to submit the matter to the Faculty for consideration.

3. The substance of these proposals is to extend to the First Arts Examination the principle of alternative courses in Literature and Science, and with that view to replace Sanskrit (and perhaps History) by some portion of Physical Science at the First Arts Examination, for those students who, having passed in Sanskrit at the Entrance Examination, should declare for a course in Physical science for the B. A. degree.

4. At a subsequent meeting of the Faculty held on the 12th May 1877, the scope of the Sub-Committee's inquiry was enlarged so as to include the subjects of the B. A. course; and they were also directed to consider the following topics, which had been referred by the Syndicate to the Faculty of Arts on the 7th April 1877 :—

- (1). Replies from heads of affiliated colleges on the question of revising the system of marking for the B. A. Examination.
- (2). Memorial from certain students of the B course suggesting alterations in the mode of examination.
- (3). Letter from Dr. Watt on the revision of the course in Botany.

3. The 3rd of these subjects refers to a matter of detail which may be postponed for the present. The students' memorial contained suggestions, all of which came finally before the Sub-Committee in another form. The replies from heads of affiliated colleges were sent in answer to a reference made by the Syndicate upon the report of the Senior Board of Examiners on the result of the last B. A. degree examination. This report contained proposals for revising and raising the marks for passing in each division of either course, and also, while fixing a minimum pass-mark on the aggregate, for doing away with separate pass-marks in all subjects except those of English, Mathematics, and the second language for the A course, and English, Mathematics, and Chemistry for the B course.

The report of the Board of Examiners [see Minutes, page 84], together with the order of the Syndicate thereon and the replies of the authorities consulted, are appended to this report.

5. The Sub-Committee therefore considered that the scope of their enquiry extended to the subjects to be taken up for the First Arts Examination, and for the B. A. degree, and also to the conditions of passing these examinations.

6. Before entering in detail upon the recommendations which the Sub-Committee have decided to make to the Faculty, it will be well to state the principles which have guided them in their deliberations, and the object which they have constantly kept in view. That object, briefly stated, is, increased specialisation of study within the limits possible to Indian students. The general tenor of the replies received from heads of colleges to the reference made by the Syndicate points clearly to the expediency of narrowing the course of study for the B. A. degree, and of enabling students to learn a few subjects well, rather than many indifferently. It has been felt, not only that the "bewildering multiplicity" (as it has been termed) of the present course is fatal to excellence in any branch of learning, and offers encouragement to mediocrity alone; but also that a student may rightly claim, along with diminution in the extent of his studies, a wider range of choice than is afforded him by the alternative courses now fixed. "Enthusiasm," writes one gentleman, "about any one department of study, such as is common among European University students, is usually precursory to failure in other subjects. Enthusiasm is accordingly repressed." The proposal to make certain subjects optional is commended by another as "a further step towards recognizing the differences which naturally exist between different minds." The passages here quoted from the replies of heads of colleges are in entire conformity with the principles by which the Sub-Committee have been guided.

7. Of these two principles, however,—that of narrowing the course and that of widening the choice,—the latter only has been deemed applicable to the First Arts Examination. At this stage of a student's career it has seemed to the Sub-Committee of importance to insist on fair general knowledge of several subjects, rather than a detailed knowledge of a few. While, therefore, the principle of alternative courses, the one tending to literary, the other to scientific culture, has been adopted for the First Arts Examination, yet no reduction has been made in the number of subjects to be taken up. A student, after passing the Entrance Examination, would, according to the proposals now made, have to make his choice, either of Sanskrit and Logic, with a view to subsequently taking up a course in Literature for the B. A. degree, or else of Chemistry and the Elements of Analytical Geometry, with a similar view to a course in Science. While, therefore, by his choice of a course for the First Arts Examination, the general direction of his subsequent studies will necessarily be determined, yet the course which he selects for that examination will include many subjects which will form no part of his future reading for the degree.

8. The present course and the alternative courses which the Sub-Committee propose to substitute for it are here compared—

The proposal to make History an optional subject has not commended itself to the Sub-Committee. A certain acquaintance with the history of the leading nations of the world is indispensable to every student of English; and the knowledge of history acquired in the Entrance Course is not sufficient to justify its abandonment during the whole of a student's college career. The subject of 'Ancient History' now prescribed seems, however, to be needlessly wide; and the Sub-Committee recommend the substitution of the Histories of Greece and Rome in outline, together with a more intimate knowledge of some period in either history, to be fixed from time to time.

9. The question of Sanskrit has given rise to much discussion. It was pointed out that the standard of Sanskrit for the Entrance Examination was reduced some years ago, on the understanding that it should be made compulsory upon all candidates at First Arts. The knowledge of Sanskrit acquired by an Entrance student is not in itself of any great value; and hence it seems needless to restrict the alternative (or B) course to those students who have taken up Sanskrit at Entrance. The Sub-Committee, therefore, recommend that candidates for the First Arts Examination should be allowed to select their course without any such restriction.

10. Mr. Woodrow's proposals contemplated a considerable addition to the Science subjects in the alternative course. The view, however, which the Sub-Committee have taken is, that scientific study may be best promoted at the First Arts stage indirectly, namely, by demanding increased mathematical knowledge in the alternative course, and thus laying the foundation for more accurate scientific study at a later stage. They have therefore included as one of the alternative subjects Analytical Geometry of the point, line, and circle, referred to rectangular co-ordinates.

11. In the subject of Mathematics common to both courses, the Sub-Committee have recommended the omission of Statics, and the addition of exponential and logarithmic series to the course in Algebra. While many students display much aptitude for Pure Mathematics, it has long been the conviction of some of the most eminent teachers of Mathematics in India that the time spent on Statics is practically thrown away. The students in our colleges, except in rare instances, find the greatest difficulty in acquiring within the time at their disposal the rudiments of Mixed Mathematics; and while, on the one hand, the few propositions which they now have to master are of little use to young students who proceed no further with that subject, the interests of those who choose Mathematics for the B. A. degree will be best served by giving them a more complete training in geometrical methods, so as to increase their capacity of mathematical absorption. From students so trained we can demand a much fuller measure of Statics for the B. A. degree.

12. Lastly, it is proposed to replace Philosophy (an unsatisfactory portion of the present course) by an extension of the course in Deductive Logic. Hence, the range of subjects for the A course has been narrowed by—

- (i) the omission of Statics.
- (ii) the omission of Philosophy.
- (iii) the limitation of Ancient History to Greece and Rome.

In the B course it is proposed to extend the subject of Chemistry so as to include the whole of Inorganic Chemistry; and this subject, together with the elements of Analytical Geometry, are considered an equivalent for Sanskrit (or other second language) and Logic.

13. On the whole, the proposed course is somewhat lighter than that which it replaces: it is reasonable therefore that the system of marking should be revised accordingly. The present standard requires 33 per cent. in the subjects of English, Mathematics, and the second language; and 25 per cent. in History and Logic. Applying to this examination the principles recommended by the Board of Examiners for the B. A. Examination, the Sub-Committee consider that, while a high aggregate of marks should be exacted, yet that, if this high aggregate be obtained, it is of less importance to insist upon a fixed minimum in each subject, English and Mathematics always excepted. They therefore recommend that the passing-mark be raised from 149 to 175, or to 35 per cent.; that 35 per cent. be required in English, and 25 in Mathematics, and that these two be the only 'plucking' subjects; that, in order to discourage mere smattering, a minimum of 15 per cent. be fixed for every other subject, failure to obtain which will not pluck, but will prevent the candidate from counting those marks towards his total; and that, if in other subjects he secures the aggregate of 175 marks, he should still pass. It is believed that this last provision will not have the practical effect of making any subject optional; for a candidate who fails in one subject would have to gain an average of 44 marks in the other four in order to pass; and no student, it is probable, would run that risk intentionally. If, however, an exceptionally good student, who had paid special attention to two or three subjects, and failed in one, could still secure that high percentage of marks in all the others, it seems right that he should pass.

14. The passing-marks for the three divisions to be on the following scale:—

For the 1st division,	250	marks,	or	50	per cent.
„ 2nd „	210	„	or	42	„
„ 3rd „	175	„	or	35	„

15. The foundations of a liberal education having thus been laid, it is the conviction of the Sub-Committee that candidates for the B. A. degree should be afforded facilities for special study in those branches for which they have displayed most aptitude. At this stage of education, it is believed, concentration, rather than diffusion of effort, would be at once the best discipline for the student, and the best means of training up a race of students whose attainments in Literature or in Science would hereafter reflect credit on their University. The following proposals are accordingly based on the two principles of narrowing the course and of widening the range of choice. The present courses, A and B, include practically five subjects each:—

A. Course.

1. English.
  2. Mixed Mathematics.
  3. A second language.
  4. } Two of the following:—
  5. }
- (a). Philosophy.
  - (b). History.
  - (c). Pure Mathematics.

B Course.

1. English.
2. Mixed Mathematics. } as in A.
3. Inorganic Chemistry.
4. Physical Geography.
5. Physics,
or Botany,
or Zoology,
or Geology.

In the proposed courses, the distinction of literary from scientific study has been fully maintained; but in either branch great variety of choice has been introduced, and the subjects of study have been reduced to three. By such a limitation, and by the exaction of a higher standard of qualification in each subject, it is hoped that the reproach of superficial study may be in some measure removed, and that the University may secure the attainment of knowledge of that order which it has a right to require of its best students, which such students are most eager to gain, but which is practically denied them by the variety of the present course.

16. The courses proposed are these,—

A Course.

1. English.
2. A Classical Language.
3. One of the following :—
(a) Pure Mathematics.
(b) Mixed Mathematics.
(c) Philosophy (including History of Philosophy).
(d) History and Political Economy.

B Course.

1. English.
- 2 and 3. One of the following groups :—
(a) { 2. Pure Mathematics.
3. Mixed Mathematics.
(b) { 2. Mixed Mathematics.
3. Physics and Inductive Logic.
(c) { 2. Mixed Mathematics.
3. Chemistry and Mineralogy.
(d) { 2. Chemistry and Mineralogy.
3. Botany, or Zoology, } with Physical or Geology, } Geography.

In the B course, therefore, provision has been made for the alternatives of (1) Mathematics only, (2) Mathematics and Physical Science, (3) Physical Science only: all in addition to English. In determining the groups, those subjects have been brought together which are more or less closely related one to another, or which in combination form a complete and independent system of knowledge. For example, Physics and Chemistry have not been combined into a group, on the ground that Physics cannot be profitably studied without Mixed Mathematics.

17. The following scale of marking is proposed :—for English 33 per cent., for each of the other two subjects 25 per cent. and 35 per cent. in the aggregate; failure to obtain any minimum being fatal. The marks to be assigned to the three divisions are—

For the 1st division, 165 out of 300, or 55 per cent.
„	2nd	„	135	„	„ 45 „
„	3rd	„	105	„	„ 35 „

18. The foregoing are the outlines of the scheme which the Sub-Committee now submit for the consideration of the Faculty of Arts. In order to complete it, it would be necessary to define accurately the contents of each subject included in the list, so as, on the one hand, to raise the standard of examination proportionately to the reduction in the number of subjects, and, on the other, to equalize the standard throughout the alternative courses. But the Sub-Committee have thought it better to pause at this point, and to refer the question in its general form to the Faculty of Arts. Should the Faculty accept the general principle of the scheme, the Sub-Committee will be prepared, if so directed, to submit to the Faculty those details of standards and text-books which are necessary to exhibit their proposals in a complete form, and which have already occupied their attention.

19. If these changes be adopted, it would further be necessary to revise the course and raise the standard for honors in all subjects. The Sub-Committee will take this question also into consideration, if desired to do so by the Faculty.

I HAVE signed the above report with some reservations. While approving generally of the scheme proposed, I am of opinion that there are certain recommendations in it, which, if adopted, would prove prejudicial to the progress of education in this country.

The A course for the First Arts as revised would have been a great improvement had a classical language formed a compulsory part of it; but, as it is, it is objectionable. I cannot approve of a literary course of collegiate reading in which the Classics are made optional. No man can be called a literary scholar who knows only English and Mathematics.

The B course as suggested does not provide for such an extended course of scientific reading as would justify the omission of a classical language. Mr. Woodrow's proposals contemplated a considerable addition to the Science subjects; but this has not been attained. The chemistry of the metals is the only addition made, and it is not equivalent to Greek, Latin, or Sanskrit, and in so far the object for which the Sub-Committee was appointed has been defeated.

Taking the First Arts course, as it has hitherto been taken, to be preparatory to the subsequent course for the B. A. Examination, I am of opinion that the two courses should be so designed as to include all that would be really useful to the pupil, and to omit those subjects which cannot be of service to him. On this ground alone can the omission of the classical language be justified. But this has not been done. Analytical Geometry is as useless to a person studying for B. A. in Chemistry or Botany as the Classics, and the argument which would apply to the one case would equally apply to the other. Persons preparing for the Medical College would also find Analytical Geometry of little use to them. I strongly object, therefore, to making Analytical Geometry a compulsory part of the B course. The subjects which, in my opinion, should replace Analytical Geometry are the elements of Mechanics, Hydrostatics, Hydraulics, and Pneumatics, divested of all mathematical problems. They would be useful to all alike, and serve more effectually to dispel all old prejudices and errors than any other subject that can be named in the whole course of European teaching.

The system of marking suggested (para. 13) also appears to me to be defective. The object originally aimed at was to give especial encouragement to scientific studies, but by the proposed plan of marking, the standard for English has been raised, and that for Mathematics lowered, and Science, History, and Logic have been made optional. The candidate who can secure the necessary number of marks in English and Mathematics will pass, whether he knows anything of Science or not. This is a queer way of giving especial encouragement to Science. It is the furthest from my wish to disparage or undervalue the importance of English as a subject of study for the people of this country; but I cannot help observing that language is not the end of, but the means of attaining, knowledge, and it would be preferable to teach Science even at a small sacrifice of English tuition. I am certain that most of our best Mathematicians, Chemists, Medical Practitioners, and Engineers, are not the best English writers; but they are much more useful to the community than those who can write best in English. And as long as English does not become the mother tongue of the people and will have to run side by side with vernacular, no natives will be able to write English with that thorough idiomatic accuracy which the majority of the Sub-Committee aim at. To raise the intellectual status of the people what is most wanted is European science, and not the English language.

As regards the B. A. course, I think the process of "specialisation" has been carried to an injurious extreme. I think "moderate culture in many branches of knowledge" would be much more fitting and generally useful than special excellence in one or two subjects. Such specialisation belongs to the sphere of honors. In the present state of Indian society, the number of persons who would starve with special qualification in Botany and Zoology would be immense. A scheme of education for so large a community of this side of India should be of a liberal character. We cannot make every one a specialist without materially narrowing his worldly prospects. The highest amount of Mathematics is required for Astronomy, but the present scheme does not recognize that as a science fit to be taught in Indian colleges for the B. A. course. It cannot be said that the omission is due to the absence of provision for its teaching, for at present there is no provision for the teaching of Botany, Zoology, and Geology, but these subjects are included.

RAJENDRALALA MITRA.

Memorandum by MAHENDRALAL SIRCAR, M.D.,—dated 2nd October 1877.

THE principle which has guided the majority of the Sub-Committee, summarised in their own words, is specialisation of study, by narrowing the course and widening the choice, in recognition of the differences which naturally exist between different minds, with a view to removing the reproach of superficial study, and securing the attainment of knowledge of that order which the University has a right to require of its students.

2. The object is excellent, but the question is, at what stage of a student's career should specialisation of study commence?

3. The answer to this question depends upon the answer that may be given to the question.—Whether it is the function of a University to encourage only liberal or only special education? I should say both; and I am glad to find this seems to be the view taken in the report.

4. I assume it cannot be doubted that a liberal education should precede special education. Superior special knowledge, unless it be of mere handicraft technicalities, is impossible of attainment without the broad basis of liberal education; and even if such knowledge were possible of attainment, the possessor of such knowledge would cut but a sorry figure in the world, unless he has had good, general, that is, varied, though moderate, culture.

5. Are the recommendations of the majority of the Sub-Committee calculated to encourage liberal education? They profess to do so, but I am afraid, in fact, they cannot. It is assumed in their report that the foundations of a liberal education are laid at the First Arts Examination. And what are the attainments of a student at this stage? Nothing more than some knowledge of the History of Greece and Rome, of Pure Mathematics up to Trigonometry, of a classical language, and of Logic, in the case of those who succeed in passing the A course; or some knowledge of English, of the History of Greece and Rome, of Pure Mathematics up to Analytical Geometry, and of Inorganic Chemistry, in the case of those who pass the B course. A liberal education, without any knowledge of Philosophy in the A course, and without any knowledge of Philosophy, of a classical language, or Logic in the B course, would hardly deserve the name.

6. The A and B courses of the First Arts are intended to serve respectively as preliminaries to the A or literary, and B or Science, course of the B. A. Now, as the latter courses have been arranged by a majority of the Sub-Committee, a student can pass the literary course by passing in English, in a classical language, and in Pure or Mixed Mathematics; and he can pass the Science course by passing in English and in Pure and Mixed Mathematics alone. Leaving aside the Science course for the present, I must confess my inability to understand how Mathematics, pure or mixed, can be said to form part of a literary course.

7. The framing of the B or Science courses does not appear to me to be satisfactory. The B course of the First Arts does not provide at all for a general knowledge of the various branches of Physical Science, which was the object of the late Mr. Woodrow's proposals, and for the consideration of which, indeed, the Sub-Committee was primarily appointed. The view which the majority of the Sub-Committee have taken has been stated to be "that scientific study may be best promoted at the First Arts stage indirectly, namely, by demanding increased mathematical study in the alternative course, and thus laying the foundation for more accurate scientific study at a later stage."

8. I do not deny, in fact, I am perfectly aware that the highest Mathematics are required to attack the most intricate problems of Physical Science, and that without the most abstruse analyses furnished by Mathematics every branch of Physical Science must theoretically come to a standstill beyond a certain stage. But it cannot be denied either that the field of Physical Science is vast and varied, and that there is ample room yet, and there will be ample room for an indefinitely long time to come, for the discovery of facts from mere observation and experiment. Davy and Faraday were no mathematicians, yet as discoverers they were inferior to none. We must remember further that the facts of Physical Science, even when they had been discovered with the aid of Mathematics, may be made accessible to students without that aid; and this, in an educational point of view, is of the utmost importance. For it is far better that the minds of students should be familiarised and stored with concrete, living facts, which may be of use to them at any moment, than crammed with abstractions which they may never have an opportunity of turning to account.

9. Immoderate as has been the specialisation carried on in the B course of the B. A., it has become particularly so when, as we have seen, there has been no provision made, in the corresponding course of the First Arts, for a general knowledge of Physical Science. And one sees with regret that so much preponderance should have been given to Mathematics by the majority, the basis of whose procedure was the recognition of the differences that naturally exist between different minds. For we may say without exaggeration that a great and fundamental difference between one mind and another is in the aptitude to learn Mathematics.

10. I am strongly opposed to the abolition of a classical language from the B course of the First Arts, and I would retain it in even the B course of the B. A. To the majority of Indian students, the classical language is Sanskrit, and without a knowledge of Sanskrit, the mother of nearly all the Indian vernaculars, their education would be sadly incomplete and useless. The masses can be reached only through the vernacular, and the alumni of our colleges, to be really and substantially useful to their country, must teach what they have learned of western literature and science with so much labour by means of the vernacular; and it is impossible they can do so effectually, unless they are acquainted with the parent language.

11. To sum up, I would not specialise in the First Arts at all. I would not make Mathematics higher than Trigonometry; and I would replace Inorganic Chemistry by Physics, inasmuch as it is impossible to learn Chemistry well without a previous acquaintance with general Physics. I would abolish Logic. The course would then stand as follows:—

1. English.
2. Pure Mathematics to Trigonometry.
3. History.
4. Classical Language.
5. Physics.

My B. A. would be as follows:—

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| A. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. English.</li> <li>2. A Classical Language.</li> <li>3 &amp; 4. { a. Philosophy and its History.          b. Logic.</li> <li>          Or</li> <li>3 &amp; 4. { a. History and Political Economy.          b. Logic.</li> </ol> | B. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. English.</li> <li>2. Classical Language.</li> <li>3 &amp; 4. Any of the groups mentioned in the report provided by Mixed Mathematics be signified some one or more branches of Physical Science with their mathematical developments.</li> </ol> |
|---|---|

It is necessary, I think, that we should have a clearer definition of Mixed Mathematics. We may have Mixed Mathematics with the laws of solid bodies, with the laws of fluid bodies, with the laws of heat, of sound, of light, of electricity, of magnetism, of the heavenly bodies; and in fixing our curriculum we must distinctly state what we intend to include in Mixed Mathematics.

APPENDIX A.

Extract from the Minutes of the Syndicate,—No. 9, dated the 24th February 1877.

READ the following:—

Report by the Senior Board of Examiners in Arts on the question of raising the aggregate pass-mark at the Examination for the B. A. Department.

“The Examiners are of opinion that the present rule, requiring candidates for the B course to obtain one-third marks in all subjects, while candidates for the A course are required to obtain one-third marks in only three subjects, and one-fourth marks in the other two, presses severely upon the former class of candidates, who now fail unless they obtain 166 marks out of 500, while the latter need only to obtain 149 marks out of 500, in order to pass. The Examiners are aware that the present rule was intended as a set-off to the shorter time during which the examination of B course candidates continued, namely, four days instead of five. But they are of opinion that this latter privilege is not without its drawbacks; since in the subjects of Physical Geography and Chemistry, in each of which only one paper is set, candidates for the B course are deprived of the chance of making up in a second paper the possible shortcomings of the first. The Examiners believe, in fact, that the difficulty of passing an examination is not increased by increasing the number of papers. They, therefore, recommend that the same total pass-mark be fixed for the two courses.

(2.) “In their opinion the aggregate pass-mark should be fixed at 180 out of 500. This limit would have excluded two candidates in the Examination of 1877, and two in that of 1876. In the Examination of 1875 a larger number, namely nine, would have been rejected; but the Examiners believe that the effect of such a rule would be to stimulate students of inferior powers to greater industry in all branches of their study; and that the number of those who pass in each subject, with a very small margin of marks throughout, would not be great.

(3.) “Should the passing mark be thus raised, it would be advisable to raise in like manner the standard for the first and for the second divisions. They, therefore, recommend that 280 marks (instead of 250) should qualify for passing in the first division, and 230 (instead of 200) for passing in the second.”

[The following addition was agreed to by the Examiners, with the exception of Mr. Dyson, who declined to vote on the ground that the question raised in it was not strictly before the Meeting.]

(4.) “The Examiners are of opinion that a good candidate who may fail, even badly, in one branch of his study, should nevertheless have an opportunity of passing by reason of his great excellence in other branches, provided these are of chief importance. In this view they think it desirable to do away with the minimum pass-mark in all, except the subjects of English, Mathematics, and the second language for the A course; and English, Mathematics and Chemistry for the B course. They, therefore, propose that, subject to the limit of 180 marks in the aggregate, a candidate should pass in either course if he obtains 33 per cent. of the marks in the three subjects above named."

ORDERED—

I.—That the minimum marks required for passing in any division be fixed as under, for the A and B courses alike :—

180 marks out of 500 passing in the 3rd division.
230	"	"	2nd	"
280	"	"	1st	"

II.—That the question raised in the 4th para. of the Report be referred to the heads of affiliated colleges for their opinion, with intimation that the Syndicate are in favor of the proposal on general grounds, but that they wish to know what practical effect its adoption would have upon the discipline and teaching of the colleges.

Sir,

With reference to your Memo

FINANCE—No.

CALCUTTA, THE 9TH FEBRUARY 1878.

FROM H. H. RISLEY, Esq.,

Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

TO THE

SIR,

It has been brought to the notice of Government that certain officers are in the habit of indenting direct upon the Bengal Secretariat Press or upon the Presidency Jail Press for forms, letter headings, envelopes, &c., instead of through the Stationery Office. This practice causes forms to be set up in one press, which may be actually standing in the other, and occasions a great waste of paper and printing materials. The Lieutenant-Governor therefore directs that all such indents should in future be forwarded to the Superintendent of Stationery, who will supply them from the stock in his office, or send them on to the Jail or Secretariat Press for compliance. If the demand in any particular case is urgent, that fact can easily be indicated on the face of the letter, and no appreciable delay will be caused by the letter passing through the Stationery Office, as the two presses are now working in constant communication with the Stationery Department.

I have the honor to be,

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Financial Department.

READ AGAIN—

Letter to Assistant Under-Secretary of State, No. 87, dated 25th October 1877, forwarding a list of newspapers and other periodicals required to be supplied through the India Office to the Departments of the Government of India and the officers in the Bengal Presidency during the year 1878.

Read also—

Despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State, No. 477, dated 7th December 1876, approving the report of a Committee on the Store Department of the India Office, suggesting that, subject to certain limitations, supplies of stores should be obtained in India by the local Governments and Administrations directly interested in reducing the cost of such supplies.

Read also—

A telegram from the Secretary of State, dated 17th December 1877.

Read—

Circular No. 2768, dated 20th December 1877, to certain booksellers in Calcutta.

Read—

Letter from Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co., dated 22nd December 1877.

„ to „ „ „ „ No. 2853, dated 27th December 1877.

The Secretary of State, by his telegram read in the preamble, intimated that newspapers and periodicals, other than Mutiny Acts, Parliamentary Reports, and other Government publications, would no longer be supplied through the India Office, and that all such newspapers and periodicals should be obtained locally, as was suggested in his despatch No. 477, dated 7th December 1876. These instructions arrived at the end of the year, and inconvenience might have occurred if each Government and Administration had then been called upon to make its own arrangements for the supply of European newspapers and periodicals for the current year. Tenders were accordingly invited from certain booksellers in Calcutta for the service during the year 1878.

2. On the 27th December 1877 the offer made by Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co. was accepted on the following conditions:—

1st.—Newspapers and periodicals as per the list sent home to Her Majesty's Secretary of State in October 1877 are to be despatched, as soon as they are out, direct to the officers for whom they are intended—the former by the Brindisi mail, and the latter by the Southampton mail. The back numbers from the 1st January 1878 are to be supplied.

2ndly.—Messrs. Thacker, Spink & Co. are to charge for this business the London published price, plus postage payable in rupees at an exchange of 1s. 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ d.

3. This arrangement is made for the year 1878 only.

ORDERED that a copy of the foregoing be forwarded for information and guidance—

To the Home, Military, Public Works, Foreign, Legislative, and Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce Departments.

To the Governments of Bengal, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and Punjab.

Sir,

I beg to propose that the present system of requiring candidates at the University examinations to translate into their own vernaculars be discontinued.

2. Practically it is very inconvenient to carry out in the F. A and B. A examinations the rule, viz: that "a portion of the second paper of the Oriental Classics is to be devoted to translations from those languages into the candidate's own vernacular" for an examiner in an oriental classic can scarcely have a knowledge of all the Indian vernaculars. Besides, the rule seems to be unnecessary, for a candidate who knows an Oriental Classical language can have no difficulty in translating from that language into his own vernacular which depends so largely upon the Classical languages. As examiner in Sanskrit for several years, I can say that no candidate who was good in Sanskrit ever failed to translate from Sanskrit into his own vernacular. It may also be remarked that this rule is not generally observed by examiners in Oriental Classics other than Sanskrit.

3. At the Entrance examination, the whole of the afternoon paper in the 2nd language consists of a passage or passages in English to be translated into one of the vernaculars of India. This in the case of those who take up an oriental classical language amounts to an examination in three languages, whereas other candidates are examined only in two, and what is really very prejudicial, leads to a partial neglect of the classical language, for a candidate who knows very little of such classical languages can manage to pass if he succeeds well in the translation paper. The practical difficulty of examining the vernacular translation of the candidates, that has been pointed out in the case of the F. A and B. A. Examinations, is also felt in the Entrance, as there are several vernacular languages for which no examiners are ever appointed, as for instance, the Assamese, the Marathi, and the languages of the Sonthal and other hill tribes.

March 13th 1878

My dear Sir,

I have to thank you very
sincerely for your letter of the 6th
just received.

In your letter of the 5th you mentioned that you had heard from the best source that the Government of India would not consent to my coming to Calcutta.

The facts regarding my proposed transfer as known to me are exactly these. Mr. Kempton received official notice on the 23rd of February that an application had been made on the behalf of the Bengal Department for my services, and that the answer
had been returned by the Government that they could not be spared.

On the 24th and 25th, in conformity

The matter of my transfer leading till Mr. Mayfield's name was covered, and that I should be allowed to go as soon as Mr.
 Mayfield returned.
 I mention all this, because I do not feel sure whether your information as to the unwillingness of the Government of India was subsequent to the receipt by the Government of the N.W.P. of my resignation to the point, you will be able to estimate the probability of my leaving. I shall feel that it is very kind of my friend to place for the Secretary's attention to make a letter for discharging me here against my will. None he very kind for Mr. Mayfield also.
 At present I have been staying daily besides the office-work of the College and the Board's House.
 Of course I should gladly take my leave as I thought advisable and I regret that I am not able to do so at present.

with a telegram and a letter from myself.
 Mr. Longman wrote to me to the following effect, that I might like to attend to go to England. As my wife I stated that I thought it would be better that I should be retained in the N.W.P. at a time that all my prospects here were at an end, that I had associated functions or prospects at present in the N.W.P.
 grades, and that I was not satisfied that I was to take over the administrative appointment in my own, the N.W.P. grades.
 When writing to Mr. Longman, Mr. Longman told Mr. Longman that he might not upon his formation to the N.W.P. grades as certain, the Bengal Government having applied for my services.
 A day or two later (the 4th) Mr. Longman wrote to me that that Government in their reply to the Government of India said that Mr. Mayfield had been written to by the Board of the Secretary, India, and that that made the circumstances likely the Government of Bengal would have

High Court,

CROWN OFFICE,

the 11th Feb 1878.

To

The Principal of the Presidency College

DEAR SIR,

May I request the favor of your furnishing me with a list of all persons in your College qualified to serve as Jurors in the High Court according to the rules published in the Calcutta Gazette, page , of , and enclosed herewith.

I shall be obliged by your rendering such list in a tabular form, giving the particulars required under the following heads :—

Names.	Style or calling.	Residence or place of business.	Native country.	Religion.
Smith, J. H. ...	Asst., Brown & Co.	61, Old Court House Street.	England ...	Christian.
Bose, Ram Chunder	Asst., Finl. Dept...	Government Place ...	India ...	Hindoo.

If the heads of offices and firms are good enough to comply with this request, there can be, so far as their establishments are concerned, no dissatisfaction found with the Jury List on the ground of its containing the names of persons who are not qualified or liable to serve as jurors.

A provisional list will be published in the Calcutta Gazette on or about the 15th of April next, and any mistakes or omissions contained in it will be corrected and supplied in the revised and final list published in the Gazette following.

After that date no alterations can be made in the Jury List until the following year.

All claims for general exemption from service, on the ground of permanent illness, or otherwise, should be made known to me before the list is made up and published. No claims on the score of illness can be regarded unless they are supported by the certificate of some properly qualified medical man.

It is particularly requested that the lists here asked for, may be sent in to my office at the earliest opportunity, and not later than the 24th of March next, so as to enable me to have the Jury List settled in accordance with the information received and published by the 15th of April.

Yours faithfully,

Dated Fort William, the 26th March 1878.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to state that, under instructions from the Board of Revenue, it has been ruled that indents for Public Instruction Forms should be submitted to the Superintendent of Stationery in April of each year, and should cover as much as may be required for a year's consumption.

2. When the stock of forms is exhausted, owing to any great pressure on it, emergent indents may be submitted through this office, together with an explanation of the unusually rapid consumption.

3. No printing work will be undertaken by the Superintendent of Stationery on the requisition of Educational Officers without the previous sanction of this office.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

CIRCULAR No. 442 E.

FROM

THE ACCOUNTANT GENERAL, BENGAL,

To

Principal Presidency College

Calcutta, the 6th March 1878.

SIR,

To enable me to compile the Annual Books of Establishment for the Government of India, I have the honor to forward a supply of forms marked A and B, and to request that you will have the goodness to return them to my address, the former IN ORIGINAL and the latter IN DUPLICATE,

"It should be the duty of all Officers drawing pay for Establishment from Civil Treasuries to send this Annual Return to the Accountant General with their Pay Abstracts for March, as heretofore."

on or immediately after the 1st of April next, after filling in the details of your Establishment as they may stand on that date. Your particular attention is invited to the marginal extract from the orders of the Government of India, Financial Department,

No. 4651, dated 29th July 1874.

2. Form A is intended to exhibit in detail the name, designation, and salary of every Covenanted and Uncovenanted Officer, and of all Clerks receiving more than Rs. 10 a month; also, a list of menial servants, with their names and monthly salaries. In preparing this form, you should be careful to quote the orders of Government sanctioning the scale of your Establishment, and also to exhibit in a note, at foot of the Return, all items of expenditure on account of Establishment which, though sanctioned prior to 1st April 1878, may not have been incurred up to that date. Two copies of Form A are sent herewith (one for your own Office); you will observe that the form is a new one, and that full instructions are given in notes appended to the sample in my Circular regarding Establishment Bills and Returns (Comptroller General's No. 33, dated 22nd January 1876).

3. Form B should include all the European and East Indian Uncovenanted Civil Servants employed in your Office, whose names will also appear in Form A. Please note that the "period of residence" in India to be entered in the last column of this form should only include residence while in the service of Government. Two copies are forwarded, which should be filled up for transmission to this Office. If there are no European or East Indian Uncovenanted Servants attached to your Establishment, one copy of the form should be returned as blank to this Office.

4. As there is no connecting link between the gross numbers given in your Budget Estimate and the Nominal Rolls in the Books of Establishment, you are requested to submit a statement (C) in the annexed form showing the number of the officers in the sanctioned scale on which your estimate was based. The totals of numbers will, of course, agree with those given in your Budget.

5. If the number of forms sent prove insufficient, a fresh supply should immediately be called for from this Office. It is requested that the printed forms only may be used. Manuscript Returns will not be accepted.

I have the honor to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

D. BARBOUR,

Offg. Accountant General, Bengal.

NOTE.

DEPUTY COMMISSIONERS, when filling up the lists, should show the Establishments in detail of their Civil and Criminal Courts together, and of the Revenue Department separately, including those entertained by Assistant and Extra Assistant Commissioners. The Jail and Medical Establishment lists will be submitted separately by medical or other officers who are in charge of these Establishments.

JUDGES should give in detail the names of Subordinate Judges, Moonsiffs and Nazirs with their Establishments; as also the names of all Court Ameens.

COLLECTORS should give in detail the names of Joint Magistrates, Assistant Magistrates, Deputy Collectors, and Deputy Magistrates, and Sub-Deputy Collectors, and of the Members of their respective Establishments; also details of the Meteorological and Salt Establishments in one Return, and details of the Abkaree Establishments in a separate Return.

DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENTS OF POLICE should include in detail their Office and Hospital Establishments, as well as the Executive Police Establishments, and should insert in Form A the names, ages, &c., of all Constables, &c., whatever their salaries may be. Municipal Police Establishments should be separately entered after the Imperial Police Establishments.

SUPERINTENDENTS OF SURVEY should include in their lists of Establishment, Field and Demarcation Establishments.

MEDICAL OFFICERS should supply details of the Medical, Jail, and Lock-up Establishments under them—the two latter in a separate Return, and should keep distinct such of the Establishments as are payable wholly from Local Funds, or partly from General Revenues and partly from Local Funds.

INSPECTORS OF SCHOOLS should only include in their Returns the Higher Class Model and other Schools within their Divisions which are entirely supported by Government and are Government Institutions. Grant-in-aid Schools should be excluded.

Statements received from Superintending Engineers of Circles in Bengal shewing the buildings which have been brought under the system of quadrennial repairs.

REMARKS.—In the Resolution of March 1875, it was remarked that the large sums annually required for repairs rendered it of great importance to bring this class of expenditure under better control; the subject was enlarged upon, and it was remarked that "the remedy for a very great deal of what is at present inconvenient and objectionable in regard to repairs seems to lie in the thorough execution of all quadrennial repairs to a building at one time, and in the whole of the buildings at an out-station or a small station receiving their quadrennial repairs during the same year."

2. Since that time the subject has been annually pressed upon the notice of the Superintending Engineers and the Department, and in the Resolution on the Examiner's Annual Appropriation Report of 1876-77, the Lieutenant-Governor found it necessary to remark on the apparent want of proper system in executing repairs, and he called for special reports from Superintending Engineers regarding the progress which had been made in introducing the quadrennial repair system.

3. The statements now read represent the quadrennial system of repairs as having been introduced to a considerable extent into all the Circles. It is evident, however, that this system has not been carried out so thoroughly and completely as is necessary in the interests of the public service; but the arrangements have so far progressed as to admit of a further step being made.

4. The state in which this question now stands is shewn in the following schedules attached to this Resolution:—

Schedule A.—	Quadrennial repairs executed in 1875-76 and due again in 1879-80.
Ditto B.—	ditto ditto ditto in 1876-77 ditto in 1880-81.
Ditto C.—	ditto ditto to be executed in 1877-78 ditto in 1881-82.
Ditto D.—	ditto ditto to be ditto in 1878-79 ditto in 1882-83.
Ditto E.—	Repairs not yet brought into the quadrennial system.

In these schedules the entries are made by stations, and include all buildings at the stations and out-stations named, except in a few instances in which certain buildings are named, in which cases the entries only refer to the buildings specified.

5. Taking Schedule D., it is to be understood that every building at the stations named, whether Imperial, Provincial or Local, together with the buildings specially named, is to be put into thorough repair during the ensuing financial year 1878-79; that nothing beyond very petty repair is to be done to any of the buildings until the next period of quadrennial repairs in 1882-83, save in the case of extensive injury arising from fire, storm, flood or unforeseen accident; and that the repairs are to be very carefully executed and to be paid for during the year 1878-79. To attain this end it is indispensable that the repair estimates be punctually prepared at the prescribed time (at latest before the end of September), with the most scrupulous care and after a very thorough examination of the building; that they be sanctioned quickly; that on receipt of sanction work be commenced without delay and be carried on with good progress; and that it be carefully supervised both as regards quality of work and rate of progress.

6. The estimates for the repairs may be prepared by subordinates, but they must be thoroughly checked by the Executive Engineer, or by an Assistant Engineer under his orders. The execution of the work should be under the supervision of the subordinate who prepared the estimate if practicable, and if possible the officers in charge of the work should not be changed during the progress of the work. If a change is necessary the relieving officer is always to be held responsible for the work of his predecessor, in accordance with the Public Works Code, Chapter XVIII., paragraphs 6 and 15, so as to preserve proper responsibility for the work. As so ample an amount of time is available before the commencement of the year 1878-79, the Lieutenant-Governor will expect the repairs of that year to be thoroughly well executed and be paid for during the year as has now been ordered.

7. Schedule D. of the quadrennial repairs to be executed in 1878-79 contains stations in which a portion of the repairs has been or is being executed in 1877-78. It is expected that it will be possible to make these repairs last until the repairs of 1878-79 are due in 1882-83; but should this be found impossible, without causing very great inconvenience and injury to the public service, the quadrennial repairs of 1878-79 will be executed in 1881-82 with those of 1877-78, so as to obviate the necessity for again dividing the repairs between two years. This principle will hold good in regard to stations in Schedules A., B. and C. which are similarly situated.

8. The remarks contained in paragraphs 5, 6 and 7 above, will apply to the repairs of future years, and will be applied to those of past years as far as may be practicable.

9. If quadrennial repairs are thoroughly and properly executed, there seems no reason why a public building should require intermediate repairs any more than a private building, except that in court-houses and buildings much frequented by the public, petty injuries will arise from time. These injuries would however, probably be small if the officers occupying the buildings and their subordinate officers evinced an interest in the prevention of injury.

10. The question of how the repairs intermediate between the quadrennial restorations should be carried out, next demands attention.

11. At the present moment, members of the Public Works Establishments are posted at stations and out-stations where the principal necessity for their presence lies in repairs being required at uncertain intervals, owing to the present irregular way of executing repairs. With a proper quadrennial repair system Public Works officers would not be necessary at these stations during the intermediate years, except for the execution of such petty repairs as are noted in paragraph 9, which would require no professional skill beyond what the locality could produce, and an unprofessional person could supervise. It would not be necessary to retain these officers at out-stations for the execution of the quadrennial repairs, because these could be executed by an officer specially deputed for the purpose from the Sudder Station.

12. The question of petty repairs, being executed by local and unprofessional officers, was mooted and brought under trial some 18 years ago, and was pronounced to work admirably on the Punjab Frontier, when the Brigadier-

General wrote—"As I have marched along the border, I have made it a point "to converse with the officers and the natives on the subject of this new system, "and all classes and ranks are in favor of it. Upon the European officers it "devolves much additional trouble, but to them this is light, compared with "the wearisomeness of embarking in a correspondence which probably pro- "duces no return, and is certain not to do so under some months during which "the work, under the present system, might be put in hand and completed." It was said also that in one Division the whole expenditure of the year was less than the cost of Public Works establishment alone had previously been.

13. This principle was mooted in Bengal shortly afterwards, and the proposal has been revived several times since. In 1865, the various Commissioners in Bengal reported favorably of the proposed system, and so did the Superintending Engineers; but it was then deemed desirable to encourage, rather than insist on the principle. In 1870, whilst there were many favorable opinions, there were some adverse ones. Instances were adduced of repairs having been neglected and buildings injured by repairs not having been seen to; it was also urged that, owing to some buildings being of a semi-permanent character and some temporary, a quadrennial repair system was impracticable. Some civil officers also said they could not undertake the work.

14. An analysis of the list of buildings, at present, on the Public Works books shews that the temporary buildings are almost entirely out-offices and unimportant buildings; and very much the same may be said of semi-permanent buildings, of which those that are important are for the most part at the head-quarters of Executive Engineers. There may be some slight occasional inconvenience from strictly enforcing a system of quadrennial repairs by the Public Works Department with intermediate repairs by occupants of buildings, but this is not comparable with the immense advantages of such a system. The experience of 1861 alluded to above proves this, and public officers in Bengal should be as able to execute their own petty repairs as the military officers on the frontier were in 1861, or civil officers under other Governments are now. It should also be remarked that the work executed by occupants of buildings must be strictly limited to petty repairs, and that petty additions and alterations must not be carried out under these orders, but under those referring to this class of work.

15. An alteration of the present system would, no doubt, throw some additional work on occupants of buildings and cause trouble, especially at first; but when introduced, it would probably be found, that having a petty work carried out at once by merely giving an order to a subordinate or contractor, would be far easier and very preferable to the present system of requisitioning the Public Works Department, signing completion reports and certificates, and so on. The officers of the Public Works Department could afford advice or assist in introducing the change; but it must be distinctly understood that this arrangement is not to be suffered to degenerate into what is now sometimes done, when civil officers apply for permission to do work themselves without coming to the Public Works Department. They receive the money and then irregularly make the work over to the Public Works Subordinate for execution without the knowledge of his superiors.

16. What is now proposed is similar to allowing a tenant to execute repairs at the expense of the landlord. If the public buildings which are occupied by Government officers were private residences, the occupants would doubtless be glad to be allowed to undertake the repairs to the buildings at the expense of the owner; and Government may reasonably expect the same to be done in the case of its own buildings. Some years ago all Sub-Divisional officers built and repaired their own residences and other buildings; and the Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied that if civil officers were to take up their own petty works the work would be more easily and cheaply done, and they would be saved much inconvenience.

17. The Lieutenant-Governor now directs that, from the commencement of the next financial year—1878-79—and subject to the exceptions authorized, no repairs of any sort shall be made by Public Works officers to buildings on the books of the Department within the period of four years from the date of the last quadrennial repairs, except to make good extensive injury arising from fire, storm, flood or unforeseen accident, without a special report being made to the Chief Engineer for submission to Government if necessary. This report will state in what year and by whom the repairs were executed, by what subordinate officers the estimates were prepared, and by what Executive Engineer they were approved and submitted to the Superintending Engineer for sanction, and all parties concerned will explain their share of the inefficient preparation of the estimate, or the indifferent execution of the repairs, which has led to the necessity of the work found to be required before the recurrence of the usual period of quadrennial renewal.

18. For the execution of such repairs as may be necessary during the intervals between quadrennial repairs, the Government will look generally to the officers occupying buildings. In the Mofussil, the buildings are, for the most part, of a permanent nature to which the quadrennial system should be completely applicable. Of buildings with tiled roofs the greater part are at Sudder Stations, where an Executive Engineer or a Public Works Subordinate resides, and when extensive re-laying of the tiles of such buildings is necessary, the work should be carried out by the Public Works Department; but all other intermediate repairs would be done by the occupants of buildings, except extraordinary repairs rendered necessary by fire, flood and similar causes. The cost of any repairs by occupants would be charged to the sub-head of petty construction and repairs in the Civil Budget, and the annual estimates for this sub-head of expenditure would probably have to be re-considered with reference to the change.

19. The Lieutenant-Governor desires particularly to impress upon the officers of the Public Works Department that this change, which is of so much importance to themselves as well as to the public interests, is dependent on the way in which quadrennial repairs are carried out, both in regard to all the work required on the occasion of a quadrennial renewal being done, and to its being executed in a thoroughly efficient manner. The quadrennial system will largely decrease the number of buildings to be inspected annually and the number of estimates to be prepared, so that there will be no excuse for not making a thorough examination of each building, for careless preparation of estimates, or for inefficient execution of the repairs within the financial year concerned. The Lieutenant-Governor will expect matters to be carried out accordingly; and immediate attention should be given to ensure the repairs now in progress being completed and paid for during the current financial year.

20. In order to expedite the full introduction of the quadrennial repair system, it is necessary that Superintending Engineers should carefully consider Schedule E.; and in bringing the buildings enumerated in this schedule under system, special attention should be given to the principle laid down in the first paragraph of these remarks. A report should be made by each Superintending Engineer as soon as possible, shewing what portion of the buildings contained in Schedule E. will be brought under the quadrennial system in 1878-79, and in this report he will notice to what extent it will be possible to reduce the number of detached subordinates and sub-divisions; vide paragraphs 11 and 14 of these remarks.

21. For the present, these orders will only apply to Mofussil buildings repaired from the Provincial Public Works Annual Estimates. For buildings repaired from the Imperial Estimates, as well as for Provincial Buildings at the Presidency, where special treatment is required, separate orders will be issued.

ORDERS.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the several Superintending Engineers of Public Works Circles in Bengal for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in Bengal for information and guidance. Commencing with the year 1878-79, the Examiner will bring to the notice of the Chief Engineer of Bengal, all instances in which any repairs, other than quadrennial, are charged for against the annual estimates of this branch for Provincial Services.

Appointment

Sir,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter N<sup>o</sup>. 1539 dated the 14th ultimo, submitting an application from Mr. R. Hand, a Professor in the Presidency College, for two years' leave on medical certificate, with effect from the 26th idem.

In reply I am to say that as Mr Hand will attain the age of 55 years on the 21st June 1879, his leave, if granted, must, under Section 1 (b) rule 3 of the Civil Leave Code, cease on that date. An exception was made by the Government of India in Mr Atkinson's case, to which Mr Hand refers, in consideration of the fact that the notification laying down the rule was issued after Mr Atkinson had left India on furlough. No such special circumstance exists in Mr Hand's case, and the Lieutenant Governor therefore regrets his inability to sanction Mr Hand's application.

3. I am to add that, if Mr Hand wishes, he can be granted leave till the 21st June 1879, when he must either return to duty or resign.

No. 1124, dated Fort William, the 28th February 1878.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Financial Department.

READ the following letters :—

No. 4374, dated the 19th July 1877.

From—L. C. PROBYN, Esq., Accountant-General, Madras,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Financial Dept.

WITH reference to your letter No. 1582, dated 30th June 1877, I have the honor to respectfully point out that there appears some doubt, owing to the peculiar wording of the order, whether in case (c) therein set forth the local Government (as well as the Government of India) is competent to authorize halting allowance to be drawn for more than ten days at one place. I believe the exception given in the first three lines of the orders is intended to refer only to (a) and (b) cases, but, I think, as the order stands, doubts may occur to those who wish to read it otherwise.

I beg also to enquire whether case (c) is intended to refer to the allowance called "extra tentage" drawn by civil officers in this Presidency. It would have been well, I think, if, when the Government of India order, No. 44, dated 4th May 1876, issued, the local Government had been moved to give another name to this allowance, which, though calculated at different rates and under different rules, is as much a travelling allowance as the similar allowances drawn by Bengal officers. The rules on the subject have been repeated in the draft Travelling Allowance Code, and I will only remark in connection with this reference that they permit the allowance being drawn for a halt of 30 days, or even more, with the Board's sanction under certain conditions, and they also allow the Sub-Collectors and other subordinate officers to draw it for halts to any extent when there is no suitable public office accommodation available.

No. 2918, dated the 8th September 1877.

From—E. J. SINKINSON, Esq., Offg. Under-Secy. to the Govt. of India, Financial Department,
To—The Accountant-General, Madras.

WITH reference to your letter No. 4374, dated the 19th July 1877, regarding the interpretation of Financial Resolution No. 1582, dated the 30th June 1877, I am directed to state that the intention is to empower the local Government to permit the halting allowance to be drawn for halts exceeding ten days. The "extra tentage" alluded to in your letter being simply travelling allowance under another name, the restriction to the ten days' halt applies to it also.

ORDERED that copies of the foregoing letters be forwarded to the other Departments of the Government of India, to the local Governments and Administrations, to the Comptroller-General, and other Chiefs of Departments administered by the Government of India, in the Financial Department, to Accountants-General other than the Accountant-General, Madras, and to Deputy Accountants-General in independent charge.

IN continuation of this Government Circular No. 4, dated the 19th April 1875, con-

Para. 15.—"As regards imposing a limit to the number of pages for each report, the Government of India accept the objection to any fixed maximum being prescribed. There is, however, a decided concurrence of opinion that departmental reports are often too bulky and may well be reduced to a more convenient size. It should be borne in mind that such reports should contain summaries of facts supported by accurate statistics; that discussions of theories are out of place in them; and that a short report, if clear and complete, is far more creditable than a long one. The Government of India trust that each local Government will instruct their subordinates to keep this view in mind."

taining instructions to be observed in submitting to Government any reports which are ordinarily printed, or which are likely to be printed, I am directed to forward herewith the marginally noted extract from a Resolution of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 364, dated 26th February 1878, and to request that the orders of that Government may be borne in mind.

2. I am, however, to add that, when it is said that discussions of theories are out of place in departmental reports, the Lieutenant-Governor does not understand this to be intended to prohibit such discussions as are directly explanatory of the facts and figures embodied in the report. A bare chronicle of fluctuations in the amount of revenue receipts, or of deeds registered, or of cases instituted, is often of less interest and importance than an intelligent exposition of the causes to which the fluctuations may be attributed. It should, therefore, be understood that discussions of theories are to be strictly confined to cases in which the theories discussed have a direct explanatory bearing upon the facts of the report.

NOTIFICATION—By the Government of India, Home Department.

THE following rules for the submission, receipt, and transmission of

N. B.—These rules do not in any way affect or supersede orders issued on the same subject by the military authorities for the guidance of the Army.

memorials and other papers of the same class, addressed to Her Majesty the Queen, Empress of India, or to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, by private persons or by officers of all civil departments, are published for general information; and the rules published under Home Department notifications No. 3742, dated 21st August 1867, and No. 1461, dated 31st July 1877, are cancelled:—

I.—No memorial will be received or attended to unless forwarded as hereinafter prescribed.

II.—Every memorial should be accompanied by a letter requesting its transmission to the authority to which it is addressed.

III.—Every memorial addressed to Her Majesty or to the Secretary of State for India should be forwarded through the local Government under which the writer is residing or is employed.

IV.—Memorials to Her Majesty or to the Secretary of State from persons in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies should be forwarded direct by the local Government, with a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion, except in the case of memorials which relate to any rule or standing order of the Government of India, or which, if granted, would cause expenditure for which the Imperial and not the local Government would be primarily responsible, or which relate to any legislative proceeding of the Governor-General in Council. Such memorials should be forwarded with a covering letter containing a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion to the Government of India in the department having cognizance of the subject-matter of such memorial, by which department the memorials will be transmitted to the Secretary of State.

V.—Memorials to Her Majesty or to the Secretary of State from persons in Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, or the Punjab, should be forwarded by the local Government, with a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion, to the Government of India in the proper department for transmission to the authority addressed.*

* Appeals by private persons from the orders of Lieutenant-Governors lie, in the first instance, to the Governor-General in Council. An appeal to the Secretary of State will lie only in the event of an appeal to the Governor-General in Council having been rejected.

VI.—Memorials to Her Majesty or to the Secretary of State from persons in the minor Administrations—the Central Provinces, British Burma, Berar, Mysore, Coorg and Assam—should be forwarded with a full statement of facts and an expression of opinion by the Chief Commissioner, or other officer charged with the administration of the province, to the Government of India in the proper department for transmission to the authority addressed.†

† In these minor Administrations also appeals by individuals from the orders of the Chief Commissioners, &c., lie, in the first instance, to the Governor-General in Council, and thereafter to the Secretary of State.

VII.—No limit is fixed to the time within which an appeal from an order of the Governments in India must be preferred to the Home Department, except in the case of appeals from a judicial decision in which the Judge is a political officer and in which the appeal ordinarily lies to Government in the Political Department. Such appeals‡ must be preferred within a period of

‡ When a judicial decision of the nature referred to has been communicated to the party or parties concerned before the 31st July 1877, he or they may appeal from such decision within 18 months from that date.

twelve months from the date of communication to the persons concerned of the order to which objection is taken.

VIII.—Memorials may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

IX.—Memorials, together with their accompanying documents, should be in English. If the accompanying documents must necessarily be forwarded in the vernacular, an English translation should be appended, which should be attested by the signature of the memorialist.

N. B.—It will be well for the transmitting office to examine such translations, and, if they are found to be incorrect or faulty, to notice the fact in sending on the memorial.

X.—It is not necessary that memorials should be forwarded in duplicate or triplicate. The originals will invariably be transmitted to England, a copy being made and retained by the Government of India, if necessary, for record.

XI.—As a general rule, the transmission to England of a memorial duly forwarded through the proper channel will not be delayed by the transmitting Government in India beyond a month after the receipt of such memorial.

XII.—Governments and Administrations in India are vested with discretionary power to withhold the transmission of memorials addressed to Her Majesty or to the Secretary of State in the following cases :

- (1)—When a memorial is illegible or unintelligible.
- (2)—When a memorial contains disrespectful or improper language.
- (3)—When a second memorial is presented after a decision has already been given by the authority to which it is addressed, and when no new facts or circumstances are adduced which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case. A memorial addressed to Her Majesty by a person whose appeal to the Secretary of State has already been rejected shall be held to be a second memorial to the same authority, and shall not be transmitted.
- (4)—When a memorial is a mere application for pecuniary assistance by a person manifestly possessing no claim.
- (5)—When a memorial is an application for employment under one of the Governments in India from a person not belonging to the covenanted service.
- (6)—When a memorial is a mere appeal from a judicial decision.
- (7)—When a memorial is addressed by an officer still in the public service and has reference to his prospective claim to pension.

XIII.—The Government of India may withhold the transmission of a memorial addressed to Her Majesty or to the Secretary of State unless the memorialist has previously memorialised the Government of India and the local Government concerned on the same subject.

XIV.—A list of memorials withheld under the discretionary power conferred by Rule XII will be forwarded quarterly to the Government of India in the case of memorials withheld by local Governments under the same discretionary power, and by the Government of India in the department concerned to the Secretary of State.

Mr. Lazarus has been a member of Balliol College for nearly four years. He is a young man of considerable ability and of good character. He obtained some time since the Boden Scholarship for Sanscrit. For the last two years he has been a student of Natural Science; but he has not yet passed his examination in this subject.

Oxford, March 15th 1878.

MR. A. VENIS LAZARUS of Balliol College was elected Boden Sanskrit Scholar in February 1877. He distinguished himself greatly in the examination and has proved himself an accurate Sanskrit Scholar. I have a high opinion of his merits and general attainments, and I believe his character for industry, steadiness, conscientious attention to his duties and gentlemanly behaviour, stands high in the University.

I shall be glad to hear of his being appointed to any office in which his acquirements may be made available for the public benefit.

London, March 21st 1878.

MR. A. V. LAZARUS was one of my pupils while I held a Tutorship at Balliol College. What I saw of his work was well done, and showed an interest in his subject. Of his more special attainments, the best witness is the University Scholarship for Sanskrit which he won at a remarkably early standing.

My personal knowledge of Mr. Lazarus would lead me to expect from him, in any undertaking, a freshness and versatility to the useful direction of which his good temper could not fail to conduce essentially.

dated 15 Instant, the former forwarding copy of a letter from the Principal Presidency College, together with his list of books which have not been supplied to the College.

In reply I beg to say that from the marginal pencil notes in the list returned, it will be seen that every indent for books was forwarded to the Society's agents in England almost immediately after it was received by me, for execution on Behalf

behalf of the Presidency College, and the books as received, were sent to the College. The indents contained some books which were either out of print or were being reprinted at the time the agents had to execute the indents. In sending therefore all available books, they gave in their invoices the reasons for which they could not supply the others. These reasons were, from time to time, communicated to the Principal

I can now write again to the Society's agents in England for the books on hearing from you and on your sending the list back to me

CIRCULAR No. 40.

FROM A. W. CROFT, Esq., M.A.,

Offg. Director of Public Instruction, Bengal,

TO ALL PRINCIPALS OF COLLEGES.

Fort William, the 6th June 1878.

SIR,

THE Senate of the Calcutta University has recently passed a Resolution that the following words be added to the 4th paragraph of the regulations for the F. A. examination, and also to the 4th paragraph of the regulations for the degree of B. A., "provided he produces a certificate from the headmaster of an affiliated institution that he has prosecuted a regular course of study for six months since the date of the last examination to which he was admitted." The effect of this ruling will be that all candidates who appear at either examination must henceforward belong to the class of "regular students." The class of "ex-students," or those who present themselves for examination a second time without having attended a further course of lectures, and that of "out-students," or those who attend a course of lectures in only one or two subjects, will both cease to exist.

2. If you have already admitted any out-students on payment of a consolidated fee for the whole session, they should now be admitted as regular students, credit being given them for the proportion of the full college fee already paid in advance by them for the second half of the session.

3. The rule does not absolutely forbid you to admit out-students for half the session, and you will use your own discretion in special cases; but the inconveniences which arise when a number of students are parading the verandahs while others are engaged at lecture are too obvious to encourage you to admit such students.

Moulmein 9th June 1878

Dear Sir, I wish you would kindly enquire of you if you would kindly enquire. see if you could get me a <sup>smart</sup> draftsman to come over here for a few weeks to do some drawing work. I'm afraid from what I've since heard that your holidays may now be on, you may have taken leave some away so I enclose Rs 1-80 in telegraph stamps for a reply by telegraph. I say briefly if you think you can get me such a man as I want, & on what salary.

I'm afraid with some men, the rainy season will be what they will call the indignity of a good or deck passage may be less than but I hope not - 2nd class may be a a cabin forward, or a part of one in a dirty part of the ship. Should the ports will, this weather, almost the certainty be closed. The whole time, the heat & closeness will therefore be insufferable & the 2nd class passage w<sup>d</sup>. certainly stay on deck, under an account of court, for choice.

Then if he's sea sick, as he's likely be, it will be pleasant to be on deck in every way. - For you

Prakash shival says he was vom-every 5 minutes, the whole way across! and the difference of 23rd for deck w. 50 or 48/- was 2nd class is considerable, especially when doubled for include the return journey

my chief fear is not only that they may object to <sup>the deck passage but to</sup> the sea voyage to in this weather, at all, that no re-

-usable sum of money will induce the average timid Bengalee to risk his precious life (he may even to all with, the 'Himal' Steamers don't usually load down) and have a certainty of 5 pursery each way. - If this is question would be, up to what point he could be lured by high salary to

In my last I hinted the salary to £200 or so - rather than what he

for have the work not done at all, and put up to 150/- per m. To me more than this, and he is avaricious. and to give a good ship passage and also be to have in the Empire

to spend a time

Point of a nature a Bengali can't be got to come, do you think a European might be persuaded? May be not so tractable a subject perhaps, as they have more of the vice of the European & but you may know of a respectable young man of good character who would undertake the job? A European perhaps, for he would not be so afraid of the sea, tho' he might feel the sea sick as I, just as much as I. The Company, I am sure, will pay the passage money, & if it's absolutely necessary, give a small advance in advance of salary but I've a great aversion to giving advances, for work not done, if it can be avoided kept pay while actually at work, or paying even once a week or fortnight is a better.

 once more stopping up for the year while I am giving you I hope you will be assured in the period that I can't help myself in this sort of the way place. - I must say this.

Dear Mr Tawney,

Will you kindly let me know the date on which I should commence my lectures on Mohammedanism at the Presidency (Mys); I was under the impression that, as last year, I should have the commencement there on the 19th of Jan, that is, today. But as I have not received from you the promised intimation to that effect, I presume my lectures are to commence on a different date.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Financial Department.

READ—

A letter from the Government of Fort St. George to the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 2927, dated the 15th December 1877, and its enclosures, reporting that Major A. T. Rolland, Superintendent of Police in Tanjore, who, while on furlough in England, was directed to return to India before the expiration of his furlough, has been allowed by the Secretary of State a free passage from England to India, and suggesting that Major Rolland is therefore "entitled to be reimbursed his actual expenses from Bombay to his station."

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to rule that whenever an absentee on furlough or other leave in Europe, who is directed to return to civil duty in India before the expiration of his leave, is allowed by the Secretary of State a free passage to any port in India, he may, with the sanction of the Government or local Administration under which he is employed, be reimbursed the personal travelling expenses actually incurred by him in proceeding from that port to the station to which he may be first posted.

2. This ruling may be retrospectively applied to Major Rolland's case.

ORDERED that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the other Departments (with the intimation that it will be reported to the Secretary of State), to all local Governments and Administrations, to the Comptroller-General and other Chiefs of Departments administered by the Government of India in this Department, to all Accountants-General, and to Deputy Accountants-General in independent charge.

Sir,

In answer to your letter
N<sup>o</sup> 355- d/ 8th Current, which has been made over to me by the Deputy Commissioner for reply. I have the honor to inform you that since receipt of your endorsement an application (herewith sent for your perusal and return) has been received from one Guna Prasad Ghoshal, an overseer who claims to have some practical experience of works. -

Should you consider him more competent than the one you have recommended, will you please tell him that his application has been accepted and to start for Julpigore at once.

But should Baboo Madoo Chandra Chakravarti possess a better personal character he would, of course, be preferable. -

I have the honor to be
Sir,
Your most Obedt. Servant
John Peck
District Engineer.

- „ Ditto ditto No. 2015, dated 2nd April 1878.
- „ Ditto ditto No. 2133, dated 10th April 1878.

It recently came to the notice of Government that an educational officer had unnecessarily retained public money in his hands instead of repaying it into the treasury, and Circular No. 12, dated 24th September 1877, quoted at the head of this Resolution, was issued, directing that no sums are to be “drawn out of the treasury from the grant allotted for primary education, or from any other grant, save to defray expenditure actually incurred; and also that no sums are to be drawn towards the close of the year and held in deposit for expenditure during the following year.” At the same time, it was ordered that a specific report be submitted to Government as to whether the practice of keeping in hand unspent balances had in any case been allowed.

2. On reconsideration, it appears to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor that the rule forbidding money to be drawn from the treasury, except to meet expenditure actually incurred, cannot in all cases be strictly maintained, and is indeed only applicable in the case of expenditure which can in the first instance be met from a permanent advance. To secure accuracy of record in the public accounts, and to diminish the risk of fraud or embezzlement in the offices of disbursing officers, as well as to simplify the accounts to be kept by such officers, it is necessary that money drawn from the public treasury should be either finally paid away within a reasonable time, or should be repaid into the treasury.

Consequently no money should as a rule be drawn from the treasury, unless it is required for immediate expenditure, and no money so drawn, and not at once required for expenditure, should, unless under special orders, be either kept in hand, or lodged in a private or public bank, or placed in deposit in the treasury, or used as an advance to meet any item of expenditure other than that for which it was drawn.

3. The answers which have been received to the circular quoted in the opening paragraph of this Resolution, show that the rule forbidding the retention in the hands of disbursing officers of unspent balances has in many cases been violated in connection with the expenditure on account of education. The administrative requirements of the Education Department are no doubt unusual, and in some respects peculiar to that department; but the direct violations of the rule which have been reported could in many instances have been avoided without inconvenience.

4. The irregularities which have occurred need not be here dealt with in detail, as they fall naturally into certain classes, and it will be sufficient to examine separately each class of cases, and to suggest such remedies as may render unnecessary any violation of rule in future.

(a.)—Delay in paying stipends of teachers of primary schools.—It appears that, as a rule, the stipend of the teacher of a primary school can only be paid when the Sub-Inspector visits a school; and as he is only required to do so once in three months, though of course his visits may be more frequent, it follows that occasionally the teacher is only paid once in three months, and the money that has been drawn from the treasury remains for a considerable time in the hands of the Sub-Inspector. A remedy for such a state of affairs would be obtained by not drawing the stipend of any month until the Sub-Inspector was about to visit the school to the teacher of which it was payable. In this way, the time during which the stipends remained in the hands of the Sub-Inspector would be reduced to a minimum; but difficulties arise in practice, owing to the fact that the stipends are drawn at head-quarters and sent out to the Sub-Inspector, and that it is impossible to tell beforehand what primary schools he may visit in any month. In such cases Government must rely upon its officers to exercise discretion in not drawing stipends from the treasury an unnecessarily long time before they are wanted.

(b.)—Delay in refunding money drawn on account of pathshalas closed since date of last inspection.—Such refunds should be made by deduction from the amount of the first bill sent to the treasury after it has been ascertained that a refund must be made.

(c.)—The balance of the pathsala grant is drawn towards the close of the year for expenditure either in rewards to gurus and pupils on the result of the primary school examination just ended, or in building grants to pathshalas.—The employment of the balance of the primary grant in this way is quite legitimate, but the procedure followed leads to frequent and great irregularities. The balance of the primary grant should never be drawn even at the end of the year, unless it is wanted for immediate expenditure, or unless it is wanted for expenditure within so short a time that it would be withdrawn from the treasury even if the end of the financial year was not approaching. Local officers should be able to make such a forecast of their expenditure as will show them what balance will be available for rewards and for building grants, and should arrange for the disbursement of this amount within the financial year; but if in any case the balance of the grant is not required for immediate expenditure at the close of the year, it should not be drawn from the treasury. All such devices, as drawing money from the treasury at the close of the year and keeping it in hand, or placing it in deposit in the treasury, or in a private bank, or in the Government Savings Bank, have always been forbidden and must cease.

(d.)—Money is sometimes drawn from the treasury before the amount to be expended is or can be known.—This procedure is said to be necessarily involved in the system of payment by results. At every centre of examination, all boys who come up to a certain standard are paid then and there a certain sum. All gurus also who furnish returns at the close of the year are paid a certain sum.

It might prima facie appear that this difficulty could be got over by ascertaining in the first instance the amount to be paid away, and afterwards distributing it among the persons entitled to receive it. But this course would be impracticable owing to the labour and expense involved in distributing all over the country the small sums to be paid away on this account. All that can be done is to require that all sums to be paid in this way shall be drawn from the treasury as short a time as possible before the date of payment, and that all money not disbursed on account of examinations held, or returns received, within the financial year, shall be refunded to the treasury on the earliest opportunity.

(e.)—Money is sometimes drawn from the balances of Government Zillah or Vernacular Schools and held in deposit (often for an indefinite period) until it is wanted to meet expenditure.—This procedure is objectionable on several grounds; it is forbidden by Government and the re-grant system renders it absolutely unnecessary. It should therefore cease.

5. In addition to the classes of irregularities enumerated in the preceding paragraphs, it appears that a system opposed to existing rules has been followed in the Behar Circle for the encouragement of the production of school books. It is stated that the Magistrates of districts in Behar are in the habit of furnishing the Inspector of Schools with sums of money drawn from the various primary grants; that the Inspector forms these sums into a fund which is kept in the Bank of Bengal and employed to encourage the production of useful school books, a separate account being kept with each Magistrate. Under this system money is drawn from the treasury before it is required for expenditure; it is kept out of the public accounts for an indefinite period and is lodged in a bank. All these practices are forbidden, and the fund must at once be wound up. Should any special measures be still required to encourage the production of school books in Behar, some system must be devised under which money will not be drawn from the treasury until it is required for actual expenditure. The Inspector could doubtless ascertain from each Magistrate how much he was prepared to expend in the purchase of useful school books, and the amount could be drawn from the treasury when it was actually required to be paid away.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to all Magistrates and Deputy Commissioners and to the General Department (Education) of this office, with the request that steps may be taken to call the attention of the various local officers concerned to the cases reported in the correspondence quoted at the head of the Resolution, in which the rules now laid down have been violated by them.

No. 850B.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in the Public Works Department, (Civil Buildings), under date the 24th June 1878.

RULES REGARDING THE CONSTRUCTION OF EDUCATIONAL BUILDINGS.

Read again Civil Buildings Proceedings for March 1876, No. 110B., relating to the transfer of the Government High School building at Rampore Bauleah to the books of the Public Works Department.

Read letter from Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, No. 2281 dated 22nd April 1878, requesting that the Chybassa Zillah School may be repaired and brought on the books of the Public Works Department.

Read again Civil Buildings Proceedings for November 1871, Nos. 101-107A., regarding the taking over, by the Public Works Department, of the Government School building at Midnapore.

Read again Civil Buildings Proceedings for June 1874, Nos. 40-42B., regarding the inclusion of the Mirza Aided School at Purneah in the list of buildings to be repaired by the Public Works Department.

REMARKS.—Educational buildings differ from other public buildings in that the funds for their construction, and sometimes their repair, are generally obtained in part from local subscriptions, and occasionally altogether from some munificent donor.

2. In some cases, the funds are expended by Local Committees or other agency, and this form of expending subscriptions or donations is often preferred to employing the agency of the Public Works Department. Local interest is, no doubt, enhanced, and local liberality stimulated, by buildings being erected in a way which admits of donors and subscribers taking an active personal interest in the expenditure of their funds. When the buildings are erected the interest seems to cease; the Government is expected to maintain the structures in efficient repair, and applications are made to bring the buildings on the books of the Public Works Department. Applications of this nature have been more frequent of late years than formerly. The increase in the expenditure on Educational buildings has been very marked.

				Rs.
1871-72 ...	...	...	...	18,628	In the five years, from 1871-72 to
1875-76 ...	...	...	...	48,310	1875-76 inclusive, the cost of repairs

has increased more than two and a half times, and with one exception there has been a steady increase each year.

3. The extension of Educational buildings will partly account for the increase; but it is also due to the Public Works Department having to meet the cost of repairs, which were formerly met in other ways.

4. Considering the large amount to which the cost of repairs under the sub-head Education has attained, it is of unusual importance that buildings should be efficiently constructed in the first instance, so that the repairs they may require may be a minimum. The necessity of taking measures for ensuring the proper construction of buildings, in the first instance, is illustrated by the case of one of the buildings named in the reference at the head of this Resolution. Application to bring this building on the books of the Public Works Department was made about a year after its completion, when it was found that repairs to the amount of only a little short of 20 per cent on the original outlay were required to place the building in proper order. A professional survey of the building showed much that was indifferently done.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor is desirous that local subscribers and donors should take an interest in the buildings to be constructed by aid of their money, and will afford all facilities to this end which may be compatible with ensuring the proper construction of the buildings. His Honor has accordingly been pleased to lay down the following rules for guidance of the Departments concerned :—

I.—If subscribers or donors undertake the entire cost of the erection of a building, and make provision for its proper repair, so that there will be no probability of the cost of repairs falling on Government at any future time, they can do so on obtaining the necessary sanction in the Educational Department; but if the repairs are to fall eventually on Government, the plans and style of building must receive sanction in the Public Works Department, and the construction of the building must be efficiently carried out to the satisfaction of that Department, which will give needful assistance.

Existing Educational buildings, which have not been constructed by the Public Works Department, may be taken on the books of that Department for the purposes of repair, provided their construction is declared by the proper officers to be satisfactory.

II.—When Educational buildings are to be constructed, partly from public funds, and partly from local subscriptions and donations, the work will be ordinarily carried out by the officers of the Public Works Department; but permission to erect the building by local management will be granted on Government being satisfied that the work can be efficiently done in this manner.

ORDERS.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Superintending Engineers of Public Works Circles and Commissioners of Divisions in Bengal and to Examiner of Public Works Accounts in Bengal for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction, Lower Provinces, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the General Department of this Government for information.
